U.S. TO GRAB RED ARMS TO LATINS

REBUKE TO CUBA — The Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees unanimously approved a Cuba resolution declaring the United States determination to use all means, including troops, to resist the spread of Communism in the Western Hemisphere. Conferring are (from left) Senators Richard Russell, Margaret Chase Smith and John Sparkman.

Berger Approved For Aid Grant

Berger Hospital is one of several institutions approved by the Ohio Department of Health for federal grants for assistance in construction projects.

Berger's Board of Governors was notified of the approval last night. Miss Ellen Leist, hospital administrator, and Emmitt Crist, a member of the board, were scheduled to meet with State Health Department officials today in Columbus for a further explanation of how the aid will apply here.

Funds approved for Berger amounted to $125,000. According to hospital spokesmen, indications are that funds derived from the approved grant would go toward construction of a new maternity wing at the hospital.

The federal aid is provided through the Hill-Burton Act. However, Mayor Richard Penn, a member of the hospital board, said exactly how the money will be utilized here will depend much on what Miss Leist and Crist learn today in Columbus.

THE COLUMBUS meeting probably also will throw more light on requirements for matching funds.

A 1½ mill levy has been placed on the Nov. 6 ballot here for a building and expansion program at Berger. A new maternity wing would be a part of the overall expansion proposal.

The Ohio Department of Health approved federal grants of $9,352,167 for assistance in construction of hospitals, health centers, non-profit nursing homes and related facilities.

The department approves such grants annually. The limit on such federal aid is one-third of a project's cost. Other grants approved were:

Hocking Valley Hospital, Logan, subject to passage of a local bond issue on the November ballot—$466,666.

New County Hospital, Portsmouth, subject to passage of bond issue—$1,500,000.

Green Cross Hospital, Cuyahoga Falls, addition—$350,000.

Proposed new hospital in vicinity of Stow, in support of a community program now under development—$1,875,000.

Don Bosco Center, Litchfield (near Medina on Ohio 18, psychiatric unit addition—$166,667.

Hamilton City Health Department, health center—$5,000.

Trumbull County Tuberculosis Hospital, nursing home unit, subject to passage of a bond issue—$133,333.

Worker Uses Parachute To Reach Factory Site

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — One production worker reported for work at the struck Westinghouse Corp. appliance plant today—by parachute.

Paul Nininger, 25, of Columbus, floated down into a cluster of small trees about 50 feet from the main entrance of big big plant on Columbus' West Side. He was unhurt.

Nininger, who belongs to a sport parachute club, said he wants to work and used the parachute "just to be different."

Ole Miss Seeks To Keep Negro Out of College

War Vet Convicted, Ordered Arrested for False Voter Signup

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—State officials pulled all the stops today in their eleventh-hour legal battle to keep Negro James Meredith from enrolling at the University of Mississippi.

The 29-year-old Air Force veteran was expected to arrive on the campus of the all-white school today to try to become the first of his race to register in the 114-year history of the school.

At Jackson, a state justice of the peace convicted Meredith in a 10-minute trial on a charge of false voter registration and ordered his arrest.

The arrest warrant was the second issued against Meredith—both growing out of a discrepancy in Meredith's listing of his residence. In seeking to register as a voter he listed his home as Hinds County, but in his testimony during his desegregation suit he said he lived in Attala County.

Neither Meredith—whose whereabouts were unknown early today—nor any of his attorneys was at the trial.

Justice of the Peace Homer Edgeworth meted out the maximum penalty—a year in jail and a $100 fine.

In an earlier arrest warrant issued against Meredith, he was accused of perjury, a felony with a maximum possible sentence of 10 years imprisonment.

The two cases tie in with a bill passed by the legislature Wednesday and signed into law by Gov. Ross Barnett in the predawn.

Student Aid Urged Similar To Veterans'

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's students who will fight the scientific and economic battles of the future deserve support similar to that given returning war veterans, Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle asserted today in a campaign speech at nearby Spencerville.

"If Ohio could afford $1 million a month to help its returning servicemen, it certainly should be willing to provide 80 per cent of that amount to a forward-looking program that will help us win the battles of the future," the governor said in a speech from the steps of the Spencerville Armory.

He was referring to a $10 million program—$10 million a year for 10 years—to establish an Ohio Research and Development Institute involving all state universities. Included would be improvements for branch colleges and technical institutes.

DiSalle proposes to finance the program by using money now set aside for retirement of World War II bonus bonds. The bonds will be paid off Dec. 31, 1963. They are being retired by a $1 - million-a-month payment from the state treasury.

The governor reported support from educators, scientists and editors for the 10-year program. He said he is encouraged "and we intend to try to get moving on the program as soon as possible."

Westinghouse Parley Resumes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Westinghouse Corp. officials and union representatives were to take a look today at each other's ideas for settling the four-day strike at the big West Side Columbus appliance plant.

Federal mediator George Bell called both sides back into session this morning after an early afternoon recess Wednesday. He said then that neither side had yielded much but at least had agreed to review the other's suggestions.

The strike began Monday morning when Local 746, International Union of Electrical Workers, went out in protest over changing of about 18 jobs from incentive rates to straight time.

DynaSoar Space Glider Is Unveiled; To Be Rocketed into Orbit of Earth

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The weirdest-looking space plane this side of science fiction was unveiled here Wednesday by the Air Force.

It's the X20 DynaSoar, scheduled to be blasted into a 100-mile-high orbit around the earth by a Titan III booster sometime in 1965.

A model of the triangular shaped black space glider, 35 feet long and 20 feet across, was shown publicly for the first time at the Air Force Association convention.

Technical men familiar with sketches and photographs of the X20 were startled by the vicious ugliness of the full-scale mockup. With its upturned wingtips and long snout, the X20 looks like its designer managed to cross a manta ray with a shark.

The Air Force also announced the names of the first six men who will fly the X20. The pilots, all from Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., are Maj. Henry C. Gordon, 37; Maj. James W. Wood, 38; Maj. Russell L. Rogers, 34; Capt. Albert H. Crews Jr., 33; and Capt. William J. Knight, 33, all of the Air Force, and Milton O. Thompson, 36, test pilot for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Sometime next year one of these men will be at the controls when the X20 makes its first test flight at Edwards, home of the X15 rocket plane.

For these flights, the X20, like the X15, will be carried aloft by a B52 bomber.

Unlike the X15, which has reached record speeds of more than 4,000 m.p.h. and a height of 314,750 feet, the X20 will set no records at Edwards. These flights will be tests of the X20's ability to maneuver in the atmosphere. Records will come later at Cape Canaveral, Fla., where the X20 will be blasted into orbit at speeds of 17,000 m.p.h.

After one or more orbits, the X20 is scheduled to land at Edwards, beginning its long descending glide somewhere over Hawaii.

The Air Force said the X20's Titan III booster rocket, under development, will have a thrust of more than 2½ million pounds. The X15 rocket engine, by comparison, generates 57,000 pounds of thrust.

Pickaway County Voters Will Decide on Five Issues

Voters in some areas of Pickaway County will be confronted with as many as five decisions on the Questions and Issues Ballot when they go to the polls on November 6.

However, only four decisions will have to be made on county-wide level. The remainder of the ballot includes two school levies and one for the Village of South Bloomfield.

Precedence on the ballot is given to a proposed constitutional amendment relative to the sale, processing or rendition of certain commodities, products and services on Sunday.

The amendment, to Article I of the Constitution of the State of Ohio, calls for a majority of affirmative vote for passage on a statewide level.

THE question states: "Shall the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of Ohio, providing that the sale of certain articles and services may not be prohibited on Sunday or any other day of the week in the State of Ohio, be adopted? Voters will check "yes" or "no."

Of major importance to Pickaway Countians is the proposed 1.5 mill levy for the construction of permanent improvements and expansion at Berger Hospital.

The levy, if passed, will run for a period of five years.

Two other new levies county voters will be asked to approve are 0.10 of a mill for five years for the purpose of providing for the operation and support of the School for Retarded Children; and 0.05 of a mill for five years for the maintenance and operation of the Tuberculosis Clinic of Pickaway County.

Voters of the Logan Elm School District will be faced with a five mill renewal for the purpose of providing current expenses within the school district. The levy is being asked for a period of five years.

A renewal of a tax for current operating expenses will also be on the ballot for voters within the Westfall School District.

A four-mill levy is being sought for five years.

South Bloomfield voters will make a decision on a proposed 0.50 mill levy to provide additional funds to meet current operating expenses of the village. This levy will also remain active for five years, if passed.

President Hails Approval Given to New Trade Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has hailed Senate passage of the foreign trade bill which gives him revolutionary powers to slash or eliminate tariffs.

By a 78-8 vote Wednesday, the Senate approved the measure that would open the way to an economic partnership with the booming European Common Market.

The House passed a similar version earlier. House and Senate conferees must reconcile the differences and work out a final version of the legislation.

This is not expected to be a difficult task since both versions contain the major powers the President requested.

The Senate vote on the measure—which heads Kennedy's legislative priority list—gave the administration its biggest victory so far in Congress.

Kennedy, described by an aide as elated, congratulated the Senate for its "significant action."

"It is the strongest trade bill since the original legislation was passed . . . and the new legislation gives us the opportunity to develop closer and more harmonious trade relations with the common market and other nations throughout the world," he said.

Both advocates and opponents agreed that the trade expansion bill is the most far-reaching trade legislation since the 1934 Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, the nation's basic tariff law, was enacted.

Republicans and Democrats joined in praising the measure. Opponents, mainly Republicans, denounced the bill as the greatest grant of power ever handed a chief executive in the trade field.

The bill would extend the reciprocal trade act to June 30, 1967—the longest extension ever provided.

At the heart of the bill is provision for the United States to work out economic agreements with the six-nation common market.

The President would be granted two broad categories of authority: 1. To cut tariffs by 50 per cent.

Tribunal Studies Scandal in Warren

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio 4th District Court of Appeals is considering the appeals of two men convicted in connection with the Warren sewer scandal.

The appeals were filed Wednesday by Frank Cickelli, former Trumbull County Democratic chairman, and Paul LaMonge of Niles. Cickelli faces a 2-17 year sentence and LaMonge 6-37 years.

Judges William Radcliff of Circleville, James Collier of Ironton and William S. Brown of Chillicothe heard the appeals.

JFK Deplores Aid Fund Slash

House Told Action Is 'Irresponsible'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says a House committee's recommendation that nearly $1.4 billion be sliced from this year's foreign aid funds is an irresponsible action that "poses a threat to free world security."

He asked that the slashed funds be restored.

House leaders, detecting sentiment for additional trimming of the $5,956,852,000 economic and military aid measure, may forego a salvage operation at this time—for strategic purposes. Kennedy originally asked $7.3 billion.

The cut criticized Wednesday night by the President in a statement is the handiwork of the House Appropriations Committee.

The stiff opposition to a move to restore the money would face was summed up by Rep. Otto E. Passman's declaration that "Not one cent will be put back if I have anything to do with it."

The Louisiana Democrat, a persistent advocate of keeping foreign aid spending down, was chairman of the appropriations subcommittee that drafted the bill. He will be floor manager for the measure in House debate, beginning today.

In his statement the President declared: "It makes no sense at all to make speeches against the spread of communism, to deplore instability in Latin America and Asia, to call for an increase in American prestige and an initiative in Eastern Europe—and then vote to cut back the Alliance for Progress, to hamper the Peace Corps, to repudiate our long-term commitments of last year and to undermine the efforts of those who are seeking to stave off chaos and communism in the most vital areas of the world . . ."

On the congressional front, the House Foreign Affairs Committee joined a Senate panel today in a warning to "the rulers of Havana and Moscow" that the United States will not tolerate a military force in Cuba capable of endangering U.S. security.

The House group unanimously voted to send to the House for action a resolution identical with one approved by two Senate committees, acting jointly.

The warning that the United States will not tolerate the development of a security threat in Cuba was contained in the report of the Senate committee.

Such a threat "could have the gravest possible consequences" and the United States "will not flinch from these consequences," declared the Senate Armed Forces and Foreign Relations Committee.

Argentine President Orders End to Army Rebel Uprising

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Troops from the countryside converged on this capital today under orders from President Jose Maria Guido to crush an uprising by army rebels.

Guido received Gen. Juan Carlos Onganía, a rebel leader, Wednesday night. Onganía had come to explain the rebel position. Instead he was handed an ultimatum to end the uprising at once.

Defying the ultimatum, Onganía returned to the rebel stronghold of Campo de Mayo in a Buenos Aires suburb, vowing to fight to the last to enforce the rebel demand that Argentina return to democratic rule.

The rebels accused the military command of moving toward military dictatorship.

Guido then ordered a joint operation against the rebels by the army, air force and navy.

But the air force commander, Brig. Cayo Antonio Alsina, said his forces would not take part. No decision was announced by

Congress Set To Give OK to Strong Action

Havana-Moscow Chiefs To Be Told America Won't Tolerate Force

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk has told Congress that if the Soviets or Cubans attempt to move arms into other Latin American countries the armed forces of the United States will be "used to intercept such traffic."

In testimony made public today, Rusk also advised the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committee that American surveillance of the Caribbean area "could lead to certain incidents which would involve the use of the armed forces of the United States."

"We are conducting a close surveillance of the Caribbean area, and we intend to enforce the right to conduct such a surveillance, and this itself could lead to certain incidents which would involve the use of the armed forces of the United States," Rusk testified.

Secondly, he said, on general grounds, as well as specifically under President Kennedy's Sept. 4 news conference statement on Cuba, "It has been made clear that if the Cubans or the Soviets in Cuba attempted to move arms illicitly into other Latin American countries, or if any elements of armed forces embarked from Cuba for any neighboring countries, that the armed forces of the United States would be used to intercept such traffic."

Release today of testimony given in a closed session showed that Rusk said:

1. If the Cubans or Soviets seek to send arms or armed forces to other Latin American countries such traffic will be intercepted by U.S. armed forces.

2. The United States is conducting, and will enforce the right to conduct, a close surveillance of the Caribbean area, and this could lead to incidents involving use of U.S. armed forces.

3. If there is an attack on the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba, the President "of course" will "move immediately with the forces necessary to take the necessary action."

On the congressional front, the House Foreign Affairs Committee joined a Senate panel today in a warning to "the rulers of Havana and Moscow" that the United States will not tolerate a military force in Cuba capable of endangering U.S. security.

The House group unanimously voted to send to the House for action a resolution identical with one approved by two Senate committees, acting jointly.

It will carry space vehicles and equipment too large for highway or railroad transport.

In testimony made public today, Rusk also advised the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committee that American surveillance of the Caribbean area "could lead to certain incidents which would involve the use of the armed forces of the United States."

"We are conducting a close surveillance of the Caribbean area, and we intend to enforce the right to conduct such a surveillance, and this itself could lead to certain incidents which would involve the use of the armed forces of the United States," Rusk testified.

Secondly, he said, on general grounds, as well as specifically under President Kennedy's Sept. 4 news conference statement on Cuba, "It has been made clear that if the Cubans or the Soviets in Cuba attempted to move arms illicitly into other Latin American countries, or if any elements of armed forces embarked from Cuba for any neighboring countries, that the armed forces of the United States would be used to intercept such traffic."

Release today of testimony given in a closed meeting showed that Rusk said:

1. If the Cubans or Soviets seek to send arms or armed forces to other Latin American countries such traffic will be intercepted by U.S. armed forces.

2. The United States is conducting, and will enforce the right to conduct, a close surveillance of the Caribbean area, and this could lead to incidents involving use of U.S. armed forces.

3. If there is an attack on the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba, the President "of course" will "move immediately with the forces necessary to take the necessary action."

On the congressional front, the House Foreign Affairs Committee joined a Senate panel today in a warning to "the rulers of Havana and Moscow" that the United States will not tolerate a military force in Cuba capable of endangering U.S. security.

The House group unanimously voted to send to the House for action a resolution identical with one approved by two Senate committees, acting jointly.

The warning that the United States will not tolerate the development of a security threat in Cuba was contained in the report of the Senate committees.

Such a threat "could have the gravest possible consequences" and the United States "will not flinch from these consequences," declared the Senate Armed Forces and Foreign Relations Committee.

Argentine President Orders End to Army Rebel Uprising

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Troops on the countryside converged on this capital today under orders from President Jose Maria Guido to crush an uprising by army rebels.

Guido received Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania, a rebel leader, Wednesday night. Ongania had come to explain the rebel position. Instead he was handed an ultimatum to end the uprising at once.

Defying the ultimatum, Ongania returned to the rebel stronghold of Campo de Mayo in a Buenos Aires suburb, vowing to fight to the last to enforce the rebel demand that Argentina return to democratic rule.

The rebels accused the military command of moving toward military dictatorship.

Guido then ordered a joint operation against the rebels by the army, air force and navy.

But the air force commander, Brig. Cayo Antonio Alsina, said his forces would not take part. No decision was announced by the navy. However, Campo de Mayo said in a communique navy planes dropped flares on tanks advancing from Magdalena to support the rebels.

Calling the president a virtual prisoner of the Army high command, Ongania said Guido acted with "astonishingly tragic celerity" in laying down an order "for forces whose objective always has been to defend him from the coups and treasons suffocating him."

The insurgents, strongly entrenched at Campo de Mayo, claimed support of the mechanized cavalry and some infantry units in their parts of the country. About 27,000 of Argentina's 70,000-man army are based at Campo de Mayo.

Ongania has demanded the ouster of the army commander in chief, Gen. Juan Lario, and army chief of staff Gen. Bernardino Labayru. Rebels claim they intend to set up a dictatorship. The rebels also seek early elections and a speedy return of the government to the people.

Money Ills Are Tied to Mate-Slaying

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—The financial affairs of Grover Young, who was killed by a shotgun blast June 25, came under close scrutiny at the second-degree murder trial of his widow, Rebecca, 37.
John Lasco, vice president of the City Bank Co., testified Wednesday that overdrafts caused closing of the checking account Young had maintained for 5 1/2 years. A pawn broker told the court of items the couple had pawned from time to time.
The broker, Irving Kahn of Givensers, Inc., Lorain, said diamond rings pawned by the couple were still at the shop.
A finance company manager told the court an insurance company paid off a $1,000 debt owed by Young after Young died.
The state contends Mrs. Young killed her husband to benefit from some $20,000 in insurance.
Mrs. Young says Young, 39, had abused her many times and had beaten her just before she shot him at their Sheffield home and stuffed the body in the trunk of their car. The body was discovered four days later in the car, which had been parked in a lot behind the Lorain police station.
The Rev. Norman E. Hoag, pastor of Penfield Junction Baptist Church testified that Young was of high character. He said Young joined the church last January, attended regularly and had stopped drinking.

hours today making it illegal for the university to admit anyone with a criminal record.
Meredith was expected to show up in company of a number of federal marshals.
If the university refuses to enroll him, the registrar likely would face federal charges.
Federal courts up to and including the Supreme Court have ordered Meredith admitted to the university as a transfer student, coming from Jackson State College for Negroes.
Barnett told state officials they should be prepared to go to jail or to resign so others could take over their jobs.
Chancery Judge L. P. Porter, a state judge, issued a temporary injunction Wednesday barring admittance of Meredith.
In special session, the Mississippi legislature passed a bill which would make it unlawful to admit to the university any student convicted of criminal charges or arrested on such charges involving moral turpitude.
Presumably, this law involved Meredith through the charges of voter registration fraud against him. Barnett signed it into law early this morning.

68 Pct. OK Wheat Quotas

WASHINGTON (AP)—A final tally by the Agriculture Department shows that 68.4 per cent of the farmers voting in the Aug. 30 referendum favored marketing quotas on the 1963 wheat crop.
The final vote in the 39-state commercial wheat producing area was 169,348 for and 78,160 against.
The 68.4 per cent favorable vote for the 1963 crop compares with the 79.4 per cent favorable vote cast in the 1961 referendum for the 1962 marketing quotas.
Wheat farmers operated this year under a mandatory program requiring a minimum cut of 10 per cent in acreage, but go back to the old program for 1963 with a national wheat acreage base of 55 million acres. Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has set the price support for the 1963 crop at $1.82 a bushel compared with $2 for the 1962 crop.

VA Considers Dividends on Vets Insurance

The Veterans Administration is currently considering paying a bonus dividend to the 5.3 million veterans of the two World Wars who held onto their National Service Life Insurance, according to a statement released today by James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer.
VA Fiscal Experts, Shea said, are now determining whether extra funds are available for payment of an extra dividend around Christmas time to pump more money into the economy. In addition, VA officials are not only studying the possibility of paying an extra dividend, but also whether to pay the regular dividend early.
Economists figure the veterans would be likely to spend most of the extra money, especially if they receive it during the Christmas shopping season. If they get it in January, more of it would go to pay off charge account debts made in December rather than for extra purchasing, Shea said.
The VA now has, Shea continued, about $200 million in uncommitted reserves within the insurance fund and they may decide to: Spend none of it, instead holding it as an extra safeguard against contingencies; pay out all of it as a special dividend; use some of it to augment the regular dividend the VA pays each policyholder on the anniversary of his policy; speed up payment of the regular dividend. (The VA did that in March, 1961, to combat a recession. It disbursed dividends scheduled to be paid during the rest of the year.)
What the VA will decide to do, Shea concluded, no one can say, a decision however should be coming soon if the special dividend is to be paid, a large amount of administrative work will be necessary which must soon start to get the dividends out by Christmas.

Msgr. Mason Speaks at K of C Meeting

Msgr. George O. Mason, pastor of St. Joseph Catholic Church, was guest speaker at this week's meeting of Hannan Council No. 5297, Knights of Columbus. The meeting was held in the council rooms at Franklin and Pickaway Sts.
Msgr. Mason presented a talk on the "Prayer of the Holy Father" for the success of the coming Ecumenical Council, which is to convene October 11, at Vatican City. This will be the first such council in over 100 years the priest said, all cardinals and bishops throughout the world have been invited to attend.
"Non-Catholics representing the World Council of Churches and ten separate Christian communities have also been invited as observers," Msgr. Mason stated.
He continued to say that the Council is meeting for the purpose of mutual understanding among Christians. One such unity is the uniting of the many Christian faiths in South America, he added.
Msgr. Mason was presented a plaque for being elected the "Knight of the Month."
PAUL Schillinger presented the council with a speaker's podium and a lecturer's table which he personally constructed.
Tickets for the State Youth Campaign were distributed to all members present.
Guests included George Flynn, district deputy; Bernard Glocker and Karl Flegelstahler, both of Portsmouth Council No. 741; and Paul Schillinger of Chillicothe Flaget Council No. 1071.
It was announced that a weiner roast for all CYC members would be held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Thornton, Route 2 from 5:30 to 10 p. m. A bus will leave St. Joseph's School at 5 p. m.

Farm Bureau's Rural Urban Fete Enjoyed by 80 Persons

Approximately 80 persons enjoyed a Rural-Urban luncheon yesterday sponsored by the Farm Bureau Women's Committee of Pickaway County.
The event was conducted at the 4-H and Grange Building at the Fairgrounds. Many dishes of food brought in by rural women served as an indication of a bountiful harvest this season.
Mrs. Dorsey Bumgarner was general chairman for the occasion. Guest speaker was Mrs. H. O. Caldwell, Route 1, Lockbourne.
Mrs. Caldwell showed slides of various trips she and her husband have taken abroad. Included were slides taken in Greece, Thailand, Egypt, Cairo and India. The audience viewed scenes of such famous places as the Greek Temple Athena, the Pyramids, the Sphinx, the Nile River and many other places.
ED JOHNSON Tri County Organization Director for Farm Bureau, spoke briefly of joint problems that exist for both the rural and urban people. He mentioned reapportionment as one of these type problems.
He said both the urban and the rural people of Pickaway County will be asked to take a stand against reapportionment in order to keep their present representatives in the State Legislature. Otherwise

Money Ills Are Tied to Mate-Slaying

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—The financial affairs of Grover Young, who was killed by a shotgun blast June 25, came under close scrutiny at the second-degree murder trial of his widow, Rebecca, 37.

John Lasco, vice president of the City Bank Co., testified Wednesday that overdrafts caused closing of the checking account Young had maintained for 5½ years. A pawn broker told the court of items the couple had pawned from time to time.

The broker, Irving Kahn of Givners, Inc., Lorain, said diamond rings pawned by the couple were still at the shop.

A finance company manager told the court an insurance company paid off a $1,000 debt owed by Young after Young died.

The state contends Mrs. Young killed her husband to benefit from some $20,000 in insurance.

Mrs. Young says Young, 39, had abused her many times and had beaten her just before she shot him at their Sheffield home and stuffed the body in the trunk of their car. The body was discovered four days later in the car, which had been parked in a lot behind the Lorain police station.

The Rev. Norman E. Hoag, pastor of Penfield Junction Baptist Church testified that Young was of high character. He said Young joined the church last January, attended regularly and had stopped drinking.

hours today making it illegal for the university to admit anyone with a criminal record.

Meredith was expected to show up in company of a number of federal marshals.

If the university refuses to enroll him, the registrar likely would face federal charges.

Federal courts up to and including the Supreme Court have ordered Meredith admitted to the university as a transfer student, coming from Jackson State College for Negroes.

Barnett told state officials they should be prepared to go to jail or to resign so others could take over their jobs.

Chancery Judge L. P. Porter, a state judge, issued a temporary injunction Wednesday barring admittance of Meredith.

In special session, the Mississippi legislature passed a bill which would make it unlawful to admit to the university any student convicted of criminal charges or arrested on such charges involving moral turpitude.

Presumably, this law involved Meredith through the charges of voter registration fraud against him. Barnett signed it into law early this morning.

68 Pct. OK Wheat Quotas

WASHINGTON (AP)—A final tally by the Agriculture Department shows that 68.4 per cent of the farmers voting in the Aug. 30 referendum favored marketing quotas on the 1963 wheat crop.

The final vote in the 39-state commercial wheat producing area was 169,348 for and 78,160 against. The 68.4 per cent favorable vote for the 1963 crop compares with the 79.4 per cent favorable vote cast in the 1961 referendum for the 1962 marketing quotas.

Wheat farmers operated this year under a mandatory program requiring a minimum cut of 10 per cent in acreage, but go back to the old program for 1963 with a national wheat acreage base of 55 million acres. Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has set the price support for the 1963 crop at $1.82 a bushel compared with $2 for the 1962 crop.

VA Considers Dividends on Vets Insurance

The Veterans Administration is currently considering paying a bonus dividend to the 5.3 million veterans of the two World Wars who held onto their National Service Life Insurance, according to a statement released today by James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer.

VA Fiscal Experts, Shea said, are now determining whether extra funds are available for payment of an extra dividend around Christmas time to pump more money into the economy. In addition, VA officials are not only studying the possibility of paying an extra dividend, but also whether to pay the regular dividend early.

Economists figure the veterans would be likely to spend most of the extra money, especially if they receive it during the Christmas shopping season. If they get it in January, more of it would go to pay off charge account debts made in December rather than for extra purchasing, Shea said.

The VA now has, Shea continued, about $200 million in uncommitted reserves within the insurance fund and they may decide to: Spend none of it, instead holding it as an extra safeguard against contingencies; pay out all of it as a special dividend; use some of it to augment the regular dividend the VA pays each policyholder on the anniversary of his policy; speed up payment of the regular dividend. (The VA did that in March, 1961, to combat a recession. It disbursed dividends scheduled to be paid during the rest of the year.)

What the VA will decide to do, Shea concluded, no one can say, a decision however should be coming soon if the special dividend is to be paid, a large amount of administrative work will be necessary which must soon start to get the dividends out by Christmas.

Firemen Pick Festival Queen At Laurelville

Karen Hulse, the daughter of Mrs. Gene Karsner of Laurelville, was elected queen of the annual Volunteer Fireman's street festival in Laurelville last night.

Selected as first attendant for Miss Hulse was Linda Kempton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Kempton. The second attendant picked was Carol West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. West.

All three girls are students at Laurelville High School.

Miss Hulse and her court were selected from a field of eight lovelies vying for the title.

She will represent Laurelville in the Miss Pumpkin Show contest.

The Laurelville Volunteer Firemen's Fair started Tuesday and will run through Saturday.

Msgr. Mason Speaks at K of C Meeting

Msgr. George O. Mason, pastor of St. Joseph Catholic Church, was guest speaker at this week's meeting of Hannan Council No. 5297, Knights of Columbus. The meeting was held in the council rooms at Franklin and Pickaway Sts.

Msgr. Mason presented a talk on the "Prayer of the Holy Father" for the success of the coming Ecumenical Council, which is to convene October 11, at Vatican City. This will be the first such council in over 100 years, the priest said, all cardinals and bishops throughout the world have been invited to attend.

"Non-Catholics representing the World Council of Churches and ten separate Christian denominations have also been invited as observers," Msgr. Mason stated.

He continued to say that the Council is meeting for the purpose of mutual understanding among Christians. One such unity is the uniting of the many Christian faiths in South America, he added.

Msgr. Mason was presented a plaque for being elected the "Knight of the Month."

PAUL Schillinger presented the council with a speaker's podium and a lecturer's table which he personally constructed.

Tickets for the State Youth Campaign were distributed to all members present.

Guests included George Flynn, district deputy; Bernard Glockner and Karl Flegstahler, both of Portsmouth Council No. 741; and Paul Schillinger of Chillicothe Flag Council No. 1071.

It was announced that a weiner roast for all CYC members would be held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Thornton, Route 2 from 5:30 to 10 p. m. A bus will leave St. Joseph's School at 5 p. m.

Farm Bureau's Rural Urban Fete Enjoyed by 80 Persons

Approximately 80 persons enjoyed a Rural-Urban luncheon yesterday sponsored by the Farm Bureau Women's Committee of Pickaway County.

The event was conducted at the 4-H and Grange Building at the Fairgrounds. Many dishes of food brought in by rural women served as an indication of a bountiful harvest this season.

Mrs. Dorsey Bumgarner was general chairman for the occasion. Guest speaker was Mrs. H. O. Caldwell, Route 1, Lockbourne.

Mrs. Caldwell showed slides of various trips she and her husband have taken abroad. Included were slides taken in Greece, Thailand, Egypt, Cairo and India. The audience viewed scenes of such famous places as the Greek Temple Athena, the Pyramids, the Sphinx, the Nile River and many other places.

ED JOHNSON Tri County Organization Director for Farm Bureau, spoke briefly of joint problems that exist for both the rural and urban people. He mentioned reapportionment as one of these type problems.

He said both the urban and the rural people of Pickaway County will be asked to take a stand against reapportionment in order to keep their present representatives in the State Legislature. Otherwise they will have to share with another county, he added.

Mrs. Homer S. Reber of Ashville directed devotions. She presented a reading entitled "What Are Hands Doing For The Service of Others."

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Sept. 20, the 263rd day of 1962. There are 102 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1198, Richard I of England defeated the French in the battle of Gisors. The English password of the day, "Dieu et Mon Droit" (God and My Right) became the royal motto of England.

On this date: In 1565, the Spaniards massacred the French Huguenots at Port Royal, Fla.

In 1797, the American frigate, Old Ironsides, was launched.

In 1881, Chester Arthur was sworn in as 21st president of the United States.

In 1932, India's Mohandas Gandhi began a death fast to end discrimination against the so-called "untouchables."

In 1951, Ford Frick was elected commissioner of organized baseball, succeeding Albert Chandler.

Today's birthdays: Irish actress Patricia Collinge is 68. Author-director Elliott Nugent is 63.

Thought for today: Never say more than is necessary—Richard Sheridan.

to get along with and respect each other, and learning to be responsible, well behaved individuals.

As stated in the Constitution of the Pickaway County Youth Canteen, the local function of the organization is to foster and promote the interests and purposes of the youth of Pickaway County, to inculcate in our youth a spirit of moral responsibility, civic pride, respect, and to provide an avenue of intelligent participation in activities beneficial to the welfare of the youth of Pickaway County.

Headquartered in Memorial Hall, the Youth Canteen is open each Wednesday and Thursday from 8 to 10:30 p. m. and on Friday and Saturday from 7:30 to 11 p. m.

TWO chaperones are on duty each night. Mrs. Francis Palm is the hostess and has served in this capacity for eight years. She is assisted by her son, James, who has served four years.

Recreation consists of pin-pong, pool and a juke box for records and dancing. Also there is a soft-drink machine and several booths for the young people to sit and talk and get acquainted.

The most popular nights are Friday and Saturday, with as many as 150-200 and sometimes more than 300 students from all over the county in attendance. However, the canteen is also visited by many students on week nights.

Membership is open to youths in Pickaway County between the ages of 13 and 19. Members pay a membership of $3 per year which is used to purchase equipment for the Youth Canteen.

Funds secured from the Pickaway County Community Fund are used to pay the rent and utilities for the meeting place and to pay the salaries of the hostess and her assistant.

This year the trustees of the Pickaway County Community

Fund have authorized payment of $4,400 to the Youth Canteen if the campaign is successful in meeting its goal of $34,750.

THE organization of the Youth Canteen consists of a Parents Association and a Youth Council.

Officers of the Parents Association are: Eugene Hanson, president; James Reichelderfer, vice president; Myra Rader, treasurer; Dorothy Smith, secretary. Directors are J. J. Sweeney, W. W. Ehmling, D. E. McDonald, W. L. Cook, M. H. Grant.

In the Parents Association there are committees on finance, house, activities, chaperons and public relations. The active members of the Parents Association are the parents of children belonging to the Pickaway County Youth Canteen.

The Youth Council, made up of student members of the Youth Canteen, meets monthly to make plans for special dances and to discuss activities of the organization. Officers are: Anne Hoffman, president; Jack Cook, vice president; Susan Warner, secretary; Jerry Shasteen, treasurer. Council members are Larry Adams, Peter McDonald, Tom Bivens, Bruce Horne, Sharon Moore and Kelly Anderson.

Midwest Fall Pig Crop To Be 4 Pct. Larger

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department predicts fall pig crop in 10 midwestern cornbelt states may be 4 per cent larger than a year ago.

The June survey indicated a 3 per cent rise.

The department said the indicated rise is based on reports that 4,643,000 sows were farrowed or intended for farrowing in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas from June through November.

Commonwealth Backs Market

Macmillan Is Given Cautious Go-Ahead

LONDON (AP)—Commonwealth leaders Wednesday gave Prime Minister Harold Macmillan a carefully-hedged go-ahead to continue his efforts to lead Britain into the European Common Market.

But the Commonwealth statesmen took the action on the firm understanding that Britain will take account of Commonwealth fears and seek a better deal for Britain's Commonwealth partners when negotiations with the six Common Market countries are resumed in two weeks.

A communique, issued after an unhappy 10-days of wrangling, catalogued various reservations expressed by the Commonwealth leaders.

The communique said the Commonwealth prime ministers trusted that a closer association between Britain and Europe "would not be allowed, as it developed, to weaken the cohesion of the Commonwealth or its influence for peace and progress in the world."

The declaration said British ministers will "support a fresh and vigorous approach to the negotiation of international commodity agreements."

This met demands voiced by Canada, New Zealand and Australia and other countries.

The three old "white" Commonwealth countries are all big producers of what officials describe as temperate foodstuffs — cereals and meat. All fear their economies would be gravely injured if they were suddenly denied the tariff-free arrangements to sell in Britain—arrangements that would have to end if Britain joins Europe on terms so far gained in negotiations with the Common Market six — France, West Germany, Italy, Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

The 2,000-word communique seemed likely to be interpreted in different ways by different countries. For Macmillan it represented an interim endorsement of policies which he is determined to carry out.

Macmillan told reporters "I am very pleased. Everything is fine." But Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew of Singapore told newsmen: "As in rugby, some people got hurt. The conference was not a success for any single country."

3 More Ohio Counties Added to Drought List

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Trumbull, Knox and Noble counties have been added to the federal list of drought disaster areas in Ohio, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle announced today.

He said he was informed of the designation by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman.

The designation means, among other things, that farmers may use the land held out of production by agreement with the Department of Agriculture, without penalty, for grazing and hay production.

"The main idea," DiSalle said, is to permit farmers to save their livestock."

Penniless Immigrant in '39 Makes $2 Million Donation

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur B. Belfer arrived here from Poland on Sept. 5, 1939—four days after the outbreak of World War II—without a penny in his pockets or an asset to his name.

Belfer, 55, and the head of a far-flung business empire, donated $2 million to Yeshiva University this week for its Graduate School of Science.

The events of the 23 years in between read like the fulfillment of the American dream.

Belfer was a successful dealer in down and feathers in Cracow, Poland, when he set sail for the United States on a business trip, leaving his wife and three children behind.

When he arrived here he discovered that Poland had ceased to be an independent country. The money he had with him and the funds he had left behind were worthless.

His situation was precarious in another way, since he had entered the United States on a visitor's visa and had no country to return to.

Late Flurry of Orders Needed by Steel Firms

NEW YORK (AP)—Only a late flurry of orders can produce a "respectable" pickup in steel industry activity in October, the Iron Age said today.

The metalworking weekly indicated no decisive movement in the steel market was probable before November.

Its appraisal followed a slight rise in nationwide steel production last week to 1,682,000 tons, continuing a modest and wavering climb that started in early July after output sank below 50 per cent of capacity.

Congress OKs U.N. Bond Deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate gave final congressional OK Wednesday to President Kennedy's request for authority to buy up to $100 million of United Nations bonds.

The measure was sent to the White House when the Senate accepted, by voice vote, the House version of a measure which Kennedy had put on his "must" legislative program.

Under it, the President may lend the U.N. up to $100 million, or buy up to half of a $200 million U.N. bond issue.

The bill carries House restrictions limiting U.S. purchases of the 2 per cent U.N. bonds, repayable over a period of 25 years, to matching the purchases of all other member nations.

A visit to the Youth Canteen on any night will disclose teen-agers engaged in wholesome, supervised recreation, learning to get along with and respect each other, and learning to be responsible, well behaved individuals.

As stated in the Constitution of the Pickaway County Youth Canteen, the local function of the organization is to foster and promote the interests and purposes of the Youth Canteen, to stimulate the ideals of the youth of Pickaway County, to inculcate in our youth a spirit of moral responsibility, civic pride, respect, and to provide an avenue of intelligent participation in activities beneficial to the welfare of the youth of Pickaway County.

Headquartered in Memorial Hall, the Youth Canteen is open each Wednesday and Thursday from 8 to 10:30 p. m. and on Friday and Saturday from 7:30 to 11 p. m.

TWO chaperones are on duty each night. Mrs. Francis Palm is the hostess and has served in this capacity for eight years. She is assisted by her son, James, who has served four years.

Recreation consists of pin-pong, pool and a juke box for records and dancing. Also there is a soft-drink machine and several booths for the young people to sit and talk and get acquainted.

The most popular nights are Friday and Saturday, with as many as 150-200 and sometimes more than 300 students from all over the county in attendance. However, the canteen is also visited by many students on week nights.

Membership is open to youths in Pickaway County between the ages of 13 and 19. Members pay a membership of $3 per year which is used to purchase equipment for the Youth Canteen.

Funds secured from the Pickaway County Community Fund are used to pay the rent and utilities for the meeting place and to pay the salaries of the hostess and her assistant.

This year the trustees of the Pickaway County Community

Fund have authorized payment of $4,400 to the Youth Canteen if the campaign is successful in meeting its goal of $34,750.

THE organization of the Youth Canteen consists of a Parents Association and a Youth Council.

Officers of the Parents Association are: Eugene Hanson, president; James Reichelderfer, vice president; Myra Rader, treasurer; Dorothy Smith, secretary. Directors are J. J. Sweeney, W. W. Ehmling, D. E. McDonald, W. L. Cook, M. H. Grant.

In the Parents Association there are committees on finance, house, activities, chaperons and public relations. The active members of the Parents Association are the parents of children belonging to the Pickaway County Youth Canteen.

The Youth Council, made up of student members of the Youth Canteen, meets monthly to make plans for special dances and to discuss activities of the organization. Officers are: Anne Hoffman, president; Jack Cook, vice president; Susan Warner, secretary; Jerry Shasteen, treasurer. Council members are Larry Adams, Peter McDonald, Tom Bivens, Bruce Horne, Sharon Moore and Kelly Anderson.

Midwest Fall Pig Crop To Be 4 Pct. Larger

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department predicts fall pig crop in 10 midwestern cornbelt states may be 4 per cent larger than a year ago.

The June survey indicated a 3 per cent rise.

The department said the indicated rise is based on reports that 4,643,000 sows were farrowed or intended for farrowing in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas from June through November.

Commonwealth Backs Market

Macmillan Is Given Cautious Go-Ahead

LONDON (AP)—Commonwealth leaders Wednesday gave Prime Minister Harold Macmillan a carefully-hedged go-ahead to continue his efforts to lead Britain into the European Common Market.

But the Commonwealth statesmen took the action on the firm understanding that Britain will take account of Commonwealth fears and seek a better deal for Britain's Commonwealth partners when negotiations with the six Common Market countries are resumed in two weeks.

A communique, issued after an unhappy 10-days of wrangling, catalogued various reservations expressed by the Commonwealth leaders.

The communique said the Commonwealth prime ministers trusted that a closer association between Britain and Europe "would not be allowed, as it developed, to weaken the cohesion of the Commonwealth or its influence for peace and progress in the world."

The declaration said British ministers will "support a fresh and vigorous approach to the negotiation of international commodity agreements."

This met demands voiced by Canada, New Zealand and Australia and other countries.

The three old "white" Commonwealth countries are all big producers of what officials describe as temperate foodstuffs—cereals and meat. All fear their economies would be gravely injured if they were suddenly denied the tariff-free arrangements to sell in Britain—arrangements that would have to end if Britain joins Europe on terms so far gained in negotiations with the Common Market six—France, West Germany, Italy, Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

The 2,000-word communique seemed likely to be interpreted in different ways by different countries. For Macmillan it represented an interim endorsement of policies which he is determined to carry out.

Macmillan told reporters "I am very pleased. Everything is fine." But Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew of Singapore told newsmen: "As in rugby, some people got hurt. The conference was not a success for any single country."

3 More Ohio Counties Added to Drought List

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Trumbull, Knox and Noble counties have been added to the federal list of drought disaster areas in Ohio, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle announced today.

He said he was informed of the designation by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman.

The designation means, among other things, that farmers may use the land held out of production by agreement with the Department of Agriculture, without penalty, for grazing and hay production.

"The main idea," DiSalle said, is to permit farmers to save their livestock."

Penniless Immigrant in '39 Makes $2 Million Donation

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur B. Belfer arrived here from Poland on Sept. 5, 1939—four days after the outbreak of World War II—without a penny in his pockets or an asset to his name.

Belfer, 55, and the head of a far-flung business empire, donated $2 million to Yeshiva University this week for its Graduate School of Science.

The events of the 23 years in between read like the fulfillment of the American dream.

Belfer was a successful dealer in down and feathers in Cracow, Poland, when he set sail for the United States on a business trip, leaving his wife and three children behind.

When he arrived here he discovered that Poland had ceased to be an independent country. The money he had with him and the funds he had left behind were worthless.

His situation was precarious in another way, since he had entered the United States on a visitor's visa and had no country to return to.

Late Flurry of Orders Needed by Steel Firms

NEW YORK (AP)—Only a late flurry of orders can produce a "respectable" pickup in steel industry activity in October, the Iron Age said today.

The metalworking weekly indicated no decisive movement in the steel market was probable before November.

Its appraisal followed a slight rise in nationwide steel production last week to 1,682,000 tons, continuing a modest and wavering climb that started in early July after output sank below 50 per cent of capacity.

Congress OKs U.N. Bond Deal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate gave final congressional OK Wednesday to President Kennedy's request for authority to buy up to $100 million of United Nations bonds.

The measure was sent to the White House when the Senate accepted, by voice vote, the House version of a measure which Kennedy had put on his "must" legislative program.

Under it, the President may lend the U.N. up to $100 million, or buy up to half of a $200 million U.N. bond issue.

The bill carries House restrictions limiting U.S. purchases of the 2 per cent U.N. bonds, repayable over a period of 25 years, to matching the purchases of all other member nations.

So far, 17 other nations have

TOKYO (AP)—Red China said today the Peiping area is suffering its longest dry spell in 40 years.

Radio Peiping said rain has been scanty since July in the region of the Chinese Communist capital. During August, it said, only 1.10 inches of rain fell, less than one-fifth of the average of recent years.

Appetites Foul Up Grocery List

By JOY STILLEY
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — Balancing the national budget is mere routine compared with my job of trying to get the grocery list and the family's appetite to come out even.

No matter what slide rule computations, horoscopic predictions and plain old guesswork I use, I always have either too much food for the family, or to much family for the food.

Take bananas, for instance. Please do take bananas. We have 17 extra ones this week that are rapidly developing a deep Florida tan.

Recently bananas were high on the pantry popularity poll. My daughter suddenly developed an unprecedented taste for them. My husband put in an unusual request for a double banana split. And my son went on a binge that would have done credit to a starved monkey.

In the face of the acute banana shortage stalking our household I nobly omitted it from my breakfast cereal. But even this sacrifice failed to close the gap between supply and demand.

For days I was subjected to accusing glances and muttered remarks about how some mothers didn't care if their families expired from malnutrition.

Recognizing a mandate when I saw one, I returned from my next shopping trip to the grocery loaded like a banana boat.

Suddenly the bottom fell out of the banana market in our household. My daughter had launched on a snack diet of apples and peanut butter. My husband was bemoaning the newly activated hole in his belt and my son wouldn't have touched a banana wrapped in a dollar bill.

Potatoes pose another problem that I face almost nightly. If in the course of human events the young man of the family gets hold of a bowl before his sister does, he piles mashed spuds in his plate higher than Mt. Everest. Anguished cries rend the air as a nearly empty serving dish continues its rounds.

In an effort to make amends, the next time I peel every potato in sight and offer a heaping mound to my starch-hungry children. The amount they skim off on this occasion would fit nicely in a demitasse cup.

Noodles, spaghetti and macaroni received similar unpredictable receptions. And as for meatballs, I've never guessed right yet. There's either not enough or three times as much as anyone wants.

One of these days, though, I'm going to beat the game. I'm going to buy a huge supply of the little packets of frozen food that cook in five minutes. I'll keep the kettle boiling all through the meal and just keep dropping packages in as long as anyone is hungry.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel industry has been airing its woes but without taking time off from its drive to sell more steel.

Steel leaders have been telling Congress—and also the stockholders—about the woes.

Most publicized are lower earnings, sometimes lower than current dividend rates, and in other cases low enough to trigger dividend cuts. Looming large is increasing competition from foreign steel mills. Hurting for several years has been the growing inroad of other materials into steel's old markets. And all of these have been compounded by an inventory glut in the hands of steel's customers, now slowly disappearing.

But over the horizon is still another problem—the steel unions are beginning to talk about re-opening their contracts next year to seek a wage increase.

The woes of the industry are real enough. But there are signs that the steelmen are doing something about it. For several years the drive was to increase ingot production. Now the emphasis is on technology to produce steel more cheaply and on marketing—creating new uses, recapturing old customers.

Inroads of aluminum, copper, glass and other materials in the vehicular industry are being combatted by new high-strength alloy steels. They boast both light weight and strength.

The American Iron and Steel Institute strives to encourage more imaginative use of steel. A steel products design competition currently is being cosponsored by the National Design Center in New York.

The container industry took about 10 per cent of total steel shipments in 1961. A Youngstown Sheet & Tube executive predicts this year some eight million tons of steel, or about 11 per cent of the total, should be sold to this industry.

Competition here has grown in recent years from paper, glass, aluminum, copper, plastics. But the steelmen have come up with a thinner tin plate to compete. Jones & Laughlin also is in there pitching with a tin can pantry program, complete with menu planning and food preparation advice.

The drive to win new markets or recapture old ones is in earnest. But even the steel salesmen admit that the near future prospects depend upon a still unresolved uncertainty: Will business in general next year be up or down—especially in the heavy industry, transportation, appliance and construction fields? Getting a bigger share of the market is fine, but there has to be a healthy market.

Fixed Policy Needed

It is now clear beyond doubt that the venture of the Bay of Pigs was an error. It started out to be started; it started out to have been carried to a logical conclusion which would have meant, ultimately if temporarily, an American occupation of Cuba. The Marines are more thorough than refugees or even reserves.

Obviously, we withdrew from the Bay of Pigs expedition after it had started because such an event would have been offensive to the Organization of American States and might have disrupted that body. It might even have been a violation of the Rio Treaty. Also, and this was the gamble, it might have resulted in Russian intervention. Although five American Ambassadors, reputable and able men had informed the State Department of the Castro political orientation, neither the White House nor the State Department in either the Eisenhower or Kennedy Administrations acknowledged the Communist affiliation of the Castro Revolution.

Today, there is no doubt on that subject, except apparently in "The New York Times" which obdurately defends an untenable position.

Politicians rarely risk acknowledging errors. They may be used against them. Nevertheless, President Kennedy must sooner or later recognize that his decision concerning the Bay of Pigs was a grievous error. It is true that Khrushchev might have said that if you object to my being 90 miles from your coast, I object to your being in Pakistan, Iran, Turkey and West Berlin — places even nearer to my border.

But had Khrushchev said that, our answer could have been that our proximity to the Russian border is the result of World War II which we entered mistakenly to rescue Soviet Russia as well as other countries from the Nazi terror. On the other hand, the United States policy in Latin America is based on the Monroe Doctrine which Russia, as a continuing nation, has incontrovertibly accepted since 1823.

If such conversations ever occurred, they are not recorded. Instead we appear to be on the verge of war with Soviet Russia over Cuba. One of the factors for optimism is that in the past, Soviet Russia has played on two fronts, expecting the west to fall into a trap. This happened during the Berlin Airlift when Soviet Russia established Red China as a satellite. It could be that in the Soviet mind, the United States can be led to compromise by giving up Berlin or possibly Iran on condition that Russia gave up Cuba.

It is too late for that because it is impossible to trust Russia or the Communist Party of any country.

The American difficulty arises from two phases:

1. It seems quite impossible for most Americans to realize that although the Russians are not 10 feet tall, nor do they all have superior intellects, they have in 45 years achieved a remarkable current position and an even greater potential in industry, science and art. They have recognized a simple fact, well understood in the United States since the day of Horace Mann, that a nation cannot progress unless its people are adequately educated. It is in the field of education rather than in diplomacy or industry that Soviet Russia is giving us a race. Their educational methods are focussed on national necessity although they have not neglected humanistic subjects.

It is silly not to recognize what they have accomplished and how, particularly if we have to fight them. To fight an enemy, it is necessary first to know the enemy.

By George Sokolsky

The American people, including many officials, do not know the Russians and it is sad to say, many do not want to.

2. What is even more important is for Americans to realize that blaming Eisenhower or Kennedy will not solve any problems. The Russians have a political system which makes it possible for a decision to be made. Within the margins of realism, Russian foreign policy has been consistent and constant since about 1920.

The United States from the time of George Washington to Theodore Roosevelt had a fairly consistent and constant foreign policy:

1. No entangling alliances;
2. Freedom of the Seas;
3. Protective Tariff;
4. Monroe Doctrine;
5. Open Door Policy.

Then we became involved and our policy became uncertain and confused. Since Woodrow Wilson, the United States has been used by friend and foe and it is time to bring ourselves out of this situation by returning to a fixed and continuous policy.

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M. D.
Hours before Nancy's wedding, her report came back showing infectious mononucleosis — glandular fever!

The previous month, she'd suffered a sore throat, aches, pains and a feverish flu for one day.

She felt fine a week before her wedding when she went for her blood test and checkup. The doctor found scattered swollen glands, so he drew extra blood to test for infectious mononucleosis.

She never suffered any measles-like rash, polio-like meningitis or hepatitis and jaundice, nor swollen glands inside the abdomen that mimic appendicitis.

Her mononucleosis was mild. Ordinarily, it wouldn't have been discovered.

Like a giant swollen gland, the spleen in the left upper corner of the abdomen sometimes grows large enough to stretch its protective outer coat. Then the slightest jar can burst the spleen and start life-threatening hemorrhage.

Microscopic examination can sometimes pinpoint mononucleosis cells in your blood.

Nancy's blood test measured special mononucleosis antibodies. She felt great, but mononucleosis probably still smoldered in those swollen glands.

She still had to go slow. Fatigue fans smoldering mononucleosis into feverish flare-ups, leaving you more pooped than ever, especially when hepatitis lingers.

Extra vitamins and a diet rich in protein, sweets and starches help both you and your liver.

Rest in bed during that feverish flu. Drink lots of juices, ades and pop to replace the perspiration drenching your bedclothes. Aspirin soothes feverish aches and pains. Medicated lozenges numb sore throats.

Teen-agers and young adults are especially vulnerable. To keep more students in classrooms, doctors at one college treated mononucleosis victims with cortisone medicines. This shortened the illness. Melting protective inflammation with cortisone, however, might turn out to be dangerous.

Everyone assumes that coughs and sneezes spread mononucleosis. No one really knows. Romantic teenagers have nicknamed it "the kissing disease".

Nancy was married anyway.

But over the horizon is still another problem—the steel unions are beginning to talk about reopening their contracts next year to seek a wage increase.

The woes of the industry are real enough. But there are signs that the steelmen are doing something about it. For several years the drive was to increase ingot production. Now the emphasis is on technology to produce steel more cheaply and on marketing—creating new uses, recapturing old customers.

Inroads of aluminum, copper, glass and other materials in the vehicular industry are being combatted by new high-strength alloy steels. They boast both light weight and strength.

The American Iron and Steel Institute strives to encourage more imaginative use of steel. A steel products design competition currently is being cosponsored by the National Design Center in New York.

The container industry took about 10 per cent of total steel shipments in 1961. A Youngstown Sheet & Tube executive predicts this year some eight million tons of steel, or about 11 per cent of the total, should be sold to this industry.

Competition here has grown in recent years from paper, glass, aluminum, copper, plastics. But the steelmen have come up with a thinner tin plate to compete. Jones & Laughlin also is in there pitching with a tin can pantry program, complete with menu planning and food preparation advice.

The drive to win new markets or recapture old ones is on in earnest. But even the steel salesmen admit that the near future prospects depend upon a still unresolved uncertainty: Will business in general next year be up or down—especially in the heavy industry, transportation, appliance and construction fields? Getting a bigger share of the market is fine, but there has to be a healthy market.

Fixed Policy Needed

It is now clear beyond doubt that the venture of the Bay of Pigs was an error. It should not have been started; if started it should have been carried to a logical conclusion which would have meant, ultimately if temporarily, an American occupation of Cuba. The Marines are more thorough than refugees or even reserves.

Obviously, we withdrew from the Bay of Pigs expedition after it had started because such an event would have been offensive to the Organization of American States and might have disrupted that body. It might even have been a violation of the Rio Treaty. Also, and this was the gamble, it might have resulted in Russian intervention. Although five American Ambassadors, reputable and able men had informed the State Department of the Castro political orientation, neither the White House nor the State Department in either the Eisenhower or Kennedy Administrations acknowledged the Communist affiliation of the Castro Revolution.

Today, there is no doubt on that subject, except apparently in "The New York Times" which obdurately defends an untenable position.

Politicians rarely risk acknowledging errors. They may be used against them. Nevertheless, President Kennedy must sooner or later recognize that his decision concerning the Bay of Pigs was a grievous error. It is true that Khrushchev might have said that if you object to my being 90 miles from your coast, I object to your being in Pakistan, Iran, Turkey and West Berlin—places even nearer to my border.

But had Khrushchev said that, our answer could have been that our propinquity to the Russian border is the result of World War II which we entered mistakenly to rescue Soviet Russia as well as other countries from the Nazi terror. On the other hand, the United States policy in Latin America is based on the Monroe Doctrine which Russia, as a continuing nation, has incontrovertibly accepted since 1823.

If such conversations ever occurred, they are not recorded. Instead we appear to be on the verge of war with Soviet Russia over Cuba. One of the factors for optimism is that in the past, Soviet Russia has played on two fronts, expecting the west to fall into a trap. This happened during the Berlin Airlift when Soviet Russia established Red China as a satellite. It could be that in the Soviet mind, the United States can be led to compromise by giving up Berlin or possibly Iran on condition that Russia gave up Cuba.

It is too late for that because it is impossible to trust Russia or the Communist Party of any country. The American difficulty arises from two phases:

1. It seems quite impossible for most Americans to realize that although the Russians are not 10 feet tall, nor do they all have superior intellects, they have in 45 years achieved a remarkable current position and an even greater potential in industry, science and art. They have recognized a simple fact, well understood in the United States since the day of Horace Mann, that a nation cannot progress unless its people are adequately educated. It is in the field of education rather than in diplomacy or industry that Soviet Russia is giving us a race. Their educational methods are focussed on national necessity although they have not neglected humanistic subjects.

It is silly not to recognize what they have accomplished and how, particularly if we have to fight them. To fight an enemy, it is necessary first to know the enemy.

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.
Hours before Nancy's wedding, her report came back showing infectious mononucleosis — glandular fever!

The previous month, she'd suffered a sore throat, aches, pains and a feverish flu for one day.

She felt fine a week before her wedding when she went for her blood test and checkup. The doctor found scattered swollen glands, so he drew extra blood to test for infectious mononucleosis.

She never suffered any measles-like rash, polio-like meningitis or hepatitis and jaundice, nor swollen glands inside the abdomen that mimic appendicitis.

Her mononucleosis was mild. Ordinarily, it wouldn't have been discovered.

Like a giant swollen gland, the spleen in the left upper corner of the abdomen sometimes grows large enough to stretch its protective outer coat. Then the slightest jar can burst the spleen and start life-threatening hemorrhage.

Microscopic examination can sometimes pinpoint mononucleosis cells in your blood.

Nancy's blood test measured special mononucleosis antibodies. She felt great, but mononucleosis probably still smoldered in those swollen glands.

She still had to go slow. Fatigue fans smoldering mononucleosis into feverish flare-ups, leaving you more pooped than ever, especially when hepatitis lingers.

Extra vitamins and a diet rich in protein, sweets and starches help both you and your liver.

Rest in bed during that feverish flu. Drink lots of juices, ades and pop to replace the perspiration drenching your bedclothes. Aspirin soothes feverish aches and pains. Medicated lozenges numb sore throats.

Teen-agers and young adults are especially vulnerable. To keep more students in classrooms, doctors at one college treated mononucleosis victims with cortisone medicines. This shortened the illness. Melting protective inflammation with cortisone, however, might turn out to be dangerous.

Everyone assumes that coughs and sneezed spread mononucleosis. No one really knows. Romantic teenagers have nicknamed it "the kissing disease".

Nancy was married anyway.

She gave her new husband that traditional kiss after the ceremony. And no! He didn't catch mononucleosis!

37 Attend DAR Session

Thirty-six members and one guest were present when The Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held their first fall meeting 2 p. m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Warner Hedges, Ashville.

Mrs. Clarence McAbee, regent, opened the meeting in ritualistic form assisted by Mrs. R. Rae Bales, in the absence of the chaplain, Mrs. Stanley Cromman. The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America was given by Mrs. Stanley Beckett, for Miss Elizabeth Stevenson, flag chairman.

The American Creed was read in unison. Mrs. Harold Bowers read a message from President General Mrs. Robert V. T. Duncan. In her message Mrs. Duncan said: "It seems particularly appropriate that our first joint effort as we start the 1962 Fall Schedule shall be the celebration and promotion of Constitution Week, Sept. 17-23. Remember the importance of adequately stressing the preservation of the Constitutional Republic as a safeguard to America today and tomorrow. In observing the 175th anniversary of the Constitution, the most wonderful work ever struck off at a given time by the brain and purpose of man, we emphasize its importance as the fountainhead from which our American freedoms spring and are guaranteed."

Reports of the Secretary and Treasurer were given.

Two letters of thanks were read by Mrs. Dumm, secretary, from Susan Lavack and Robert Bowers, thanking the chapter for sponsoring them as delegates to the State Forestry Training Camp at Tar Hollow.

An invitation was read from the Washington C. H. Chapter, inviting the Pickaway Plains Chapter to attend a luncheon meeting to be held 1 p. m. Oct. 1 in the First Methodist Church, Washington C. H. Reservations to this luncheon should be made by Sept. 26, with Mrs. Clarence McAbee or Mrs. Sterling Poling.

Mrs. McAbee reminded the members to save their used clothing and other articles for the Approved Schools and that all clothing can be left at the home of Mrs. R. Rae Bales, 207 E. Main Street.

At the conclusion of the business Miss Alice Ada May presented the National Defense. Miss May said in giving her report that there is nothing negative in the National Defense program as is so often and mistakenly stated, as it is a positive program of preserving our priceless heritage and freedom and protecting the Constitution, the sovereignty and the solvency of these United States. She added that to this end we will oppose and expose whatever threatens this goal, we will exert every effort to alert the American people to the continuing assaults on our national sovereignty and constitutional government.

Mrs. Sterling Poling, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Marshall Douthett, who presented an informative talk on "The Wisdom of the Constitution". In his talk, Mr. Douthett said, "The Constitution was a written instrument agreed upon by the people of the United States. A document which established law for the Federal Government and for all the States."

He said the Federal Government cannot act without the Constitution. It is just as powerful a document today as it was when originated back in 1787. Time has proven the wisdom of the Constitution.

Mr. Douthett concluded his talk by quoting from President Lincoln as follows: "Courts of the Tribunes prescribed by the Constitution and created by the authority of the people to determine, expound and enforce the law. Hence whoever resists the final decision of the highest judicial tribunal aims a deadly blow at our whole Republican system of government a blow which if successful would place our rights and liberties at the mercy of passion, anarchy and violence."

A clarinet quartet, composed of Susie Hoffines, Lynn Noecker, Patty Collins and Jackie Lindsay, presented "The Two Guitars and Over the Rainbow."

The October meeting will be held 7:30 p. m. October 16 at the Methodist Church. On October Mrs. Robert will serve as hostess chairman.

At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Dan Buskirk, Mrs. Jay Hay, Mrs. Joseph Peters, Mrs. Seymour Miller, Mrs. Jud Dresbach, Mrs. T. L. William Cromley Miss Florence Brown, Mrs. C. E. Mahaffey and Mrs. Walter Hedges.

WCS Plans Meeting

Five Points WCS will meet 8 p. m. Wednesday in the home of Mrs. D. J. Conley.

All members are urged to attend.

Unit Slates Meeting

Past Chiefs Club will meet 8 p. m. Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Robert Lovett, 146 Town St.

Paper - thin French pancakes may be spread with apricot preserves, then folded over twice and dusted with confectioners sugar. A delectable dessert - especially if a little brandy is added to the preserves.

Interesting variation: add cooked corn niblets (cut from fresh cobs or canned) to a cream sauce and serve over sliced hard-cooked eggs. Sprinkle with parsley or chives.

Mrs. Greenlee Is Feted at Farewell Party

Mrs. Donald Greenlee was guest of honor at a farewell coffee party given recently at the home of Mrs. Ronald Spence, 1010 N. Court St. Mrs. Doyle Painter was co-hostess.

The Greenlee family will be moving to Oakland City, Md., Monday. The honored guest was presented with a yellow rose corsage and the yellow flowers and table decorations that were used.

Those attending were: Mrs. M. W. Burkhardt, Mrs. Henry Walters, Mrs. Harold Whitmore, Mrs. George Robinson, Mrs. Ronald Kneeth, Mrs. Donald Vogel, Mrs. Dan Neason, Mrs. Frank Wirth, Mrs. Wayne Smith, Mrs. Darrell Tague, Mrs. Robert Russel, Mrs. William Brock and Mrs. Carl Benhase.

Also invited but unable to attend were: Mrs. Denver Greenlee, Mrs. Clark Will, Mrs. T. L. Huston, Mrs. Emmitt Evans, Mrs. Donald Meyers, Mrs. William Siblick, Mrs. Ralph May and Mrs. William Rackett.

Members Hold Davis Reunion

The William Davis family reunion was conducted at Ted Lewis Park, with 37 members present.

A carry-in dinner was enjoyed at noon and the afternoon was spent watching the ball game on TV and visiting.

Due to illness several members were unable to attend. Out-of-city relatives present were from Mt. Sterling, Powell, Chillicothe and Columbus.

The reunion next year will be the third Sunday in September at the same place.

Weight Watchers Club To Be Formed in Area

Mrs. Ralph Tipton, 603 N. Court St., former member and past president of the Weight Watchers Club of Chillicothe is presently organizing a similar club in this area.

Anyone with a genuine interest for losing or gaining weight, diet, exercise and general physical fitness will be welcome to join the club. Membership is limited. Interested persons may contact Mrs. Tipton, GR 4-3508.

Meeting Set by Group

The Practical Nurses Association will meet 7:30 p. m. Friday in the home of Marguerite Stevison, Stoutsville. Jean Good will be co-hostess.

Guild 41 To Meet

Berger Hospital Guild No. 41 will meet 8 p. m. Monday in the home of Mrs. Robert Turner, 133 W. Mound St.

Joan Wagner will present a program on flower arranging.

Next time you plan to serve French toast to your family, have some French bread on hand and use slices of it dipped in the egg and milk solution. This difference in bread makes for pleasant variety. Serve with maple syrup, jam or jelly.

Russian Ballet Star Happy With Husband, a Composer

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — She's the star of the Bolshoi Ballet, and audiences go wild over her.

Her private life makes her just as happy. Married to a talented young composer for five years, she can't imagine what could make them quarrel.

What's there left for her to wish for?

Maya Plisetskaya fluttered her hands and replied through an interpreter: She wants to dance "Giselle," considered the Hamlet of the ballet.

PEOPLE In the News

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Joseph Werner Leben was convicted in Sao Paulo, Brazil, of being an East German spy and sentenced to 18 years in prison. The government said Leben transmitted secrets to the East Germans and tried to set up a spy network in Brazil.

Pope John XXIII will suspend private audiences Oct. 1 for the forthcoming Roman Catholic ecumenical council, expected to last six months or more, the Vatican announced.

Ken Bannon, a member of the United Auto Workers executive board, called in Detroit for the removal of time clocks from auto plants because they are "a waste of time and energy." A news clipping on Bannon's proposal was posted over the timeclock punched daily by the clerical staff at UAW headquarters.

Sloan Wilson, 42, author of "The Man in the Grey Flannel Suit," was married in Dublin, Ireland, to Betty Joan Stephens, an American girl. Wilson, 42, wore a brown suit.

Probers Find Near Million In Overdrafts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State examiners said today that books of the late Mahoning County Auditor Charles B. Rayburn showed overdrafts of nearly $1 million. The report to State Auditor James A. Rhodes listed these cash overdrafts: general fund $506,383, motor vehicle and gas tax $161,598, poor relief $220,846, surplus commodity $10,007 and real property assessment fund $84,506.

The total came to $983,342 for the period between Nov. 3, 1959, through 1961.

Examiners Donald C. Clarke and Virgil J. VanOss criticized the way numerous bills were paid, and personal use of county automobiles by office employees among other things in their report.

Rayburn's successor, Stephen R. Olenick, is not liable for the overdraft but officials said action could be brought against Rayburn's estate.

And she wants something new, something that's never been performed before, created for her.

Undoubtedly the first will happen, in time. Why can't her husband, Rodion Shchedrin, bring about the second?

"My husband can write excellent music, but I cannot find a libretto."

She explained their happy relationship: "If he were a partner, for instance, there would always be something—such as, he didn't hold me up properly. This way—he composes and I dance—we complement each other."

They're together most of the time. In the Soviet Union he's with her in the theater or at their home outside Moscow. Here in New York, where the ballet company is appearing before starting a cross-country tour, the couple can be found most late afternoons sitting unnoticed in their hotel bar sharing a beer.

She has plenty of family around. Her two brothers are dancers in the company, and her uncle is the famous choreographer and ballet master Asaf Messerer. She comes from a well known theatrical family and her mother, a motion picture actress, is still active in Moscow.

Maya Plisetskaya, who's been dancing since she was 9, dazzles audiences with regal beauty, incredible grace and dramatic intensity. But away from the stage she has a placid, well-scrubbed look that bears out her reputation for being one of the most even-tempered in the business.

Dear Abby: Bachelor in a Pinch

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Just because I am a bachelor, I am always elected when someone needs an escort for a lone lady. I have been stuck with more of these lemons and am getting tired of it. My immediate superior (I work in an insurance office) asked me if I would take his sister to the Charity Ball. I know his sister as I have been stuck with her before. She is fat and talkative and a real pill. I can't say I am going to be out of town as he knows my schedule. What other excuse can I use?

THE EXTRA MAN
DEAR EXTRA: Tell him you are busy on that evening, and then recommend a friend. (Or better yet—an enemy.)

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I separated and a divorce was filed. I am 50 and she is 48. I started seeing a divorced woman of 32. We planned to marry when I became free. My wife fell ill and my lawyer advised to me drop the divorce proceedings, saying it would be impossible to get a divorce while she was ill. It turns out that my wife has an incurable disease which could last for years. I have doctor bills to pay and must hire nurses around the clock as my wife is helpless. I asked my girl friend to forget me and find a nice young single man, but she phones constantly and insists upon seeing me. How can I convince her that there is no future for her with me?

OBLIGATED
DEAR OBLIGATED: You have stated your case as clearly as it can be stated. Refuse to speak to your girl friend on the phone and do not see her again. When repeated efforts to see you fail, she will eventually give up.

DEAR ABBY: I have been driving for years and have never had an accident or a ticket. I have a friend who doesn't drive, so I drive her around quite a bit. It's no inconvenience as she is a neighbor. But she is a backseat driver of the worst kind! Every minute I hear, "Turn left and use Main Street. Watch out for that car ahead of you! Don't pass yet! We're coming to a stop sign!" I don't want to hurt this woman's feeling, but if she only knew how her directions irritate me! How would you handle this situation?

A "SLAVE" DRIVER
DEAR "SLAVE": Free yourself with one outspoken response: "I am driving this car and you, my dear, are driving me batty. Please be quiet and let me get us both there safely."

Unload your problem on Abby. For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

58 SIDES TO THE STORY

58 Facets comprise the Story of a diamond's beauty

The perfectly cut diamond has 58 facets (surfaces) each reflecting and dissecting the light spectrum. The result can be breathtaking. It is the basis of a diamond's popularity; the source of its fascinating beauty. But there are many facets to the story of a diamond, and one of the more important of these is the value side. What determines a diamond's worth would take a whole book to describe. But to put it in a few words it boils down to this—your jeweler's integrity counts more than anything else. Nothing means more.

In her message Mrs. Duncan said: "It seems particularly appropriate that our first joint effort as we start the 1962 Fall Schedule shall be the celebration and promotion of Constitution Week, Sept. 17-23. Remember the importance of adequately stressing the preservation of the Constitutional Republic as a safeguard to America today and tomorrow. In observing the 175th anniversary of the Constitution, the most wonderful work ever struck off at a given time by the brain and purpose of man, we emphasize its importance as the fountainhead from which our American freedoms spring and are guaranteed."

Reports of the Secretary and Treasurer were given.

Two letters of thanks were read by Mrs. Dumm, secretary, from Susan Lavack and Robert Bowers, thanking the chapter for sponsoring them as delegates to the State Forestry Training Camp at Tar Hollow.

An invitation was read from the Washington C. H. Chapter, inviting the Pickaway Plains Chapter to attend a luncheon meeting to be held 1 p. m. Oct. 1 in the First Methodist Church, Washington C. H. Reservations to this luncheon should be made by Sept. 26, with Mrs. Clarence McAbee or Mrs. Sterling Poling.

Mrs. McAbee reminded the members to save their used clothing and other articles for the Approved Schools and that all clothing can be left at the home of Mrs. R. Rae Bales, 207 E. Main Street.

At the conclusion of the business Miss Alice Ada May presented the National Defense. Miss May said in giving her report that there is nothing negative in the National Defense program as is so often and mistakenly stated, as it is a positive program of preserving our priceless heritage and freedom and protecting the Constitution, the sovereignty and the solvency of these United States. She added that to this end we will oppose and expose whatever threatens this goal, we will exert every effort to alert the American people to the continuing assaults on our national sovereignty and constitutional government.

Mrs. Sterling Poling, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Marshall Douthett, who presented an informative talk on "The Wisdom of the Constitution". In his talk, Mr. Douthett said, "The Constitution was a written instrument agreed upon by the people of the United States. A document which established law for the Federal Government and for all the States."

He said the Federal Government cannot act without the Constitution. It is just as powerful a document today as it was when originated back in 1787. Time has proven the wisdom of the Constitution.

Mr. Douthett concluded his talk by quoting from President Lincoln as follows: "Courts of the Tribunal prescribed by the Constitution and created by the authority of the people to determine, expound and enforce the law. Hence whoever resists the final decision of the highest judicial tribunal aims a deadly blow at our whole Republic, a system of government a blow which if successful would place our rights and liberties at the mercy of passion, anarchy and violence."

A clarinet quartet, composed of Susie Hofflines, Lynn Noecker, Patty Collins and Jackie Lindsay, presented "The Two Guitars and Over the Rainbow."

The October meeting will be held 7:30 p. m. on October 16 at the Methodist Church. On October Mrs. Robert will serve as hostess chairman.

At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Dan Buskirk, Mrs. Jay Hay, Mrs. Joseph Peters, Mrs. Seymour Millar, Mrs. Jud Dresbach, Mrs. T. L. William Cromley Miss Florence Brown, Mrs. C. E. Mahaffey and Mrs. Walter Hedges.

WCS Plans Meeting

Five Points WCS will meet 8 p. m. Wednesday in the home of Mrs. D. J. Conley.

All members are urged to attend.

Unit Slates Meeting

Past Chiefs Club will meet 8 p. m. Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Robert Lovett, 146 Town St.

Paper-thin French pancakes may be spread with apricot preserves, then folded over twice and dusted with confectioners sugar. A delectable dessert — especially if a little brandy is added to the preserves.

Interesting variation: add cooked corn niblets (cut from fresh cobs or canned) to a cream sauce and serve over sliced hard-cooked eggs. Sprinkle with parsley or chives.

Mrs. Greenlee Is Feted at Farewell Party

Mrs. Donald Greenlee was guest of honor at a farewell coffee party given recently at the home of Mrs. Ronald Spence, 1019 N. Court St. Mrs. Doyle Painter was co-hostess.

The Greenlee family will be moving to Oakland City, Md., Monday. The honored guest was presented with a yellow rose corsage and the yellow flowers and table decorations that were used.

Those attending were: Mrs. M. W. Burkhardt, Mrs. Henry Walters, Mrs. Harold Whitmore, Mrs. George Robinson, Mrs. Ronald Knecht, Mrs. Donald Vogel, Mrs. Dan Neason, Mrs. Frank Wirth, Mrs. Wayne Smith, Mrs. Darrell Tague, Mrs. Robert Russel, Mrs. William Brock and Mrs. Carl Benhase.

Also invited but unable to attend were: Mrs. Denver Greenlee, Mrs. Clark Will, Mrs. T. L. Huston, Mrs. Emmitt Evans, Mrs. Donald Meyers, Mrs. William Siblick, Mrs. Ralph May and Mrs. William Rackerl.

Members Hold Davis Reunion

The William Davis family reunion was conducted at Ted Lewis Park, with 37 members present.

A carry-in dinner was enjoyed at noon and the afternoon was spent watching the ball game on TV and visiting.

Due to illness several members were unable to attend.

Out-of-city relatives present were from Mt. Sterling, Powell, Chillicothe and Columbus.

The reunion next year will be the third Sunday in September at the same place.

Weight Watchers Club To Be Formed in Area

Mrs. Ralph Tipton, 603 N. Court St., former member and past president of the Weight Watchers Club of Chillicothe is presently organizing a similar club in this area.

Anyone with a genuine interest for losing or gaining weight, diet, exercise and general physical fitness will be welcome to join the club. Membership is limited.

Interested persons may contact Mrs. Tipton, GR 4-3508.

Meeting Set by Group

The Practical Nurses Association will meet 7:30 p. m. Friday in the home of Marguerit Stevenson, Stoutsville. Jean Good will be co-hostess.

Guild 41 To Meet

Berger Hospital Guild No. 41 will meet 8 p. m. Monday in the home of Mrs. Robert Turner, 133 W. Mound St.

Joan Wagner will present a program on flower arranging.

Next time you plan to serve French toast to your family, have some French bread on hand and use slices of it dipped in the egg and milk solution. This difference in bread makes for pleasant variety. Serve with maple syrup, jam or jelly.

Russian Ballet Star Happy With Husband, a Composer

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — She's the star of the Bolshoi Ballet, and audiences go wild over her.

Her private life makes her just as happy. Married to a talented young composer for five years, she can't imagine what could make them quarrel.

What's there left for her to wish for?

Maya Plisetskaya fluttered her hands and replied through an interpreter: "She wants to dance 'Giselle,' considered the Hamlet of the ballet."

And she wants something new, something that's never been performed before, created for her.

Undoubtedly the first will happen, in time. Why can't her husband, Rodion Shchedrin, bring about the second?

"My husband can write excellent music, but I cannot find a libretto."

She explained their happy relationship: "If he were a partner, for instance, there would always be something—such as, he didn't hold me up properly. This way—he composes and I dance — we complement each other."

They're together most of the time. In the Soviet Union he's with her in the theater or at their home outside Moscow. Here in New York, where the ballet company is appearing before starting a cross-country tour, the couple can be found most late afternoons sitting unnoticed in their hotel bar sharing a beer.

She has plenty of family around. Her two brothers are dancers in the company, and her uncle is the famous choreographer and ballet master Asaf Messerer. She comes from a well known theatrical family and her mother, a motion picture actress, is still active in Moscow.

Maya Plisetskaya, who's been dancing since she was 9, dazzles audiences with regal beauty, incredible grace and dramatic intensity. But away from the stage she has a placid, well-scrubbed look that bears out her reputation for being one of the most even-tempered in the business.

Ken Bannan, a member of the United Auto Workers executive board, called in Detroit for the removal of time clocks from auto plants because they are "a waste of time and energy." A news clipping on Bannan's proposal was posted over the timeclock punched daily by the clerical staff at UAW headquarters.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State examiners said today that books of the late Mahoning County Auditor Charles B. Rayburn showed overdraws of nearly $1 million.

The report to State Auditor James A. Rhodes listed these cash overdraws: general fund $506,383, motor vehicle and gas tax $161,598, poor relief $220,846, surplus commodity $10,007 and real property assessment fund $84,506.

The total came to $983,342 for the period between Nov. 3, 1959, through 1961.

Examiners Donald C. Clarke and Virgil J. VanOss criticized the way numerous bills were paid, and personal use of county automobiles by office employees among other things in their report.

Rayburn's successor, Stephen R. Olenick, is not liable for the overdraw but officials said action could be brought against Rayburn's estate.

Those Exotic Night Blossoms Are Well Worth Long Waiting

By MRS. ELIZABETH JONES

The average Pickaway County night blooming cereus is an ungainly plant. It is often grotesque in appearance. A specimen with any age (and many are old plants) has to be propped up with stakes and string.

Night blooming cereus is a tender succulent that must be wintered indoors. This means that each spring the heavy pot must be carried out of the basement and placed on the patio or porch.

In short, the night blooming cereus in Ohio is a nuisance 364 days out of the year.

And then comes the night of wonder! This is the night the plant blooms. The blossoms will be limp the next morning. Their fragile beauty will be entirely gone. But who cares? A miracle was wrought the night before.

TAKE the Noble Barrs of 160 E. Town St., for instance. They have a 10-year-old night blooming cereus. Last Tuesday night there were six blossoms on their plant.

Friends, neighbors and kinfolks arrived to see the horticultural marvel.

Mrs. Barr says she knew by six o'clock that evening that the blossoms were imminent. The elongated buds were parting, cracking a little.

According to Mrs. Barr, one does not actually see the blossoms open. There was no perceptible movement. The pink sepals parted to free the flower. The whole plant began to sway as though in a breeze. Then suddenly the flowers! All six opened at precisely the same moment.

The white blossoms measure about five of six inches across. The fragile flowers have an inexpressible quality of celestial purity. To look into the heart of the flower is truly like a glimpse of Heaven.

Mrs. Barr is under the impression that there is a legend connected with this flower. Inside its throat is a star-like formation which Mrs. Barr says could symbolize the Star of Bethlehem. It could indeed.

ABOUT 11:30 p. m. the Barrs retired but not before Noble Barr had taken 25 feet of colored movie film of the flower and countless black and white snap shots. And not before Mrs. Barr had cut four of the six blossoms, placed them in plastic bags and put them in the refrigerator.

Mrs. Barr says they will keep a week or more like this.

Visitors came even after the Barrs retired, bringing flashlights so they could see these rare and beautiful blossoms. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Anderson were the last visitors Tuesday night.

Mrs. Barr says that strangely enough the flowers held their own until after ten o'clock the next day. Generally blossoms are limp and have a scalded look by morning.

The Barr's night blooming cereus plant is rather symmetrical. It is held in place by broomsticks and string. It has excellent foliage.

This plant was given to Mrs. Barr by a sister-in-law in Michigan 10 years ago. Then it was a mere slip. Now it is a heavy plant with all the signs of maturity.

Each year the plant winters in the basement. Each summer it is brought upstairs to the back porch. Receiving the rare and delicate flowers picked by Mrs. Barr were: Mrs. C. M. May, Ringgold; Mrs. George Cloud and her first grade students at Walnut St. School; Mrs. Barr's sister who lives in Lancaster and the Circleville Fire department.

17-FOOTERS—P. B. Imbler, 82-year-old retired railroad man, reports this corn planted in June on his Sharpville, Ind., land runs to 17 feet tall.

Experts Can Help Plan Winter Beauty

Does your property look drab in winter?

This can be changed in such a way that four landscaping will have beautiful winter interest, be about as lovely as in summer in a different way if you use care in planting says the American Association of Nurserymen.

Winter plantings will vary considerably according to the climate in which one lives. Evergreens are a standby to provide the greens and grays for warm contrasts with snow in the colder climates.

Along with the evergreens, which should include evergreen ground covers, can be planted birches and other trees with colorful barks and berries and branch structures to provide lovely patterns against the white background of snow.

THE northern states do not have a profusion of winter plant life, but there are many evergreens which, by contrast with snow, can be strikingly beautiful and necessary in the winter months.

Nurserymen can advise on this. Many of the colorful berries also will last well into the winter months. Evergreens also can provide windbreaks to keep the home warmer in winter and, when properly planted, lessen the amount of fuel needed for heating the house.

Nuts Very Healthful Experts Say

Nut trees are growing increasingly popular with homeowners. There are now varieties of English walnuts and pecans that will weather our Ohio climate.

It is well to know that nut eating is healthful.

Nuts like pecans and walnuts are more efficient than corn oil and other unsaturated fats when it comes to keeping down the cholesterol content of the blood, in order to help ward off potential heart disease, according to the American Association of Nurserymen.

For example, pecans, black and persian walnuts and perhaps some of the other nuts contain only 6 per cent saturated oils compared to 15.8 percent from corn oil and far more than the animal fats.

NUTS ARE a wholesome and natural food, cheap and easy to grow for the average home owner who plants a tree or two.

There will be a big food-industry drive for unsaturated foods in the coming months, says the association, and it may be of substantial benefit for the home owner to think of nuts as natural foods, as well as tidbits, and to serve more nut dishes in the home. Nuts are, in fact, very fine foods.

Handy Timetable Lists Bulbs In Order of Their Flowering

LITTLE BULBS WITH BIG RETURNS — Crocuses say "Goodbye Winter and Hello Spring". They are inexpensive. They last for many years. No garden is complete without them.

It's bulb planting time again. As reliably as the return of Fall, the Spring-flowering bulbs arrive each year from Holland — tulips, hyacinths, daffodils, crocuses and the other "little bulbs" that hold the promise of so many weeks of flowering beauty and pleasure next Spring.

Bulb deliveries this year were delayed by cold weather in Holland. By now, however, the Dutch exporters have caught up with shipments, and you can expect to find your favorite bulbs when you want them for planting this Fall.

The unusually cold weather has produced a real bonus in quality. The Associated Bulb Growers of Holland report that this year's crop is one of the best in history. Bulb flowers need and like cold weather. This is one reason tulips and other Spring-flowering bulbs are so easy to grow. Wintry cold acts to produce hardy, strong flowers in the Spring.

WHEN TO PLANT
Bulbs must be planted in the Fall. They need two to three weeks in the ground to begin root development before growth is stopped by cold weather. Bulb planting is easy, and may be done any time after the bulbs arrive until the ground becomes too hard to dig in.

And bulbs are so hardy that some gardeners have been known to get fine flowers in the Spring even when they plant them so late in Fall or early in Winter that they needed a pickaxe to break up the soil.

Plan weeks of Spring flowers.

THE SPRING season is one-quarter of the whole year. With a little planning and the right selection of bulbs this Fall, you can count on having flowers in bloom all through the Spring. Some bulbs like crocus, are definitely flowerers only for the early Spring.

Tulips, on the other hand, are available in varieties that flower almost as early as the crocus and others that reach their peak at the tail-end of the season. It is easy to have the flowers you want when you want them if you select bulbs to bloom in sequence.

THE SEQUENCE OF BLOOM
Although it is hard to predict exact dates of bloom for the Spring bulb flowers, they follow each other in a sequence that is as predictable as the change of the seasons.

Once flowering begins with the early types, the rest will follow through a season that begins in late February or early March and continues to late May, depending on local weather conditions. Here is a handy timetable listing some of the many bulbs in the order of their flowering.

Galanthus (Snowdrop)
Eranthis (Winter Aconite)

MRS. FLOYD WELLER, corner of High and N. Pickaway, had a beautiful display of morning glories climbing her lamp post. They suddenly stopped blooming. This she attributed to the fact that she stopped watering them when city residents were asked to go easy on sprinkling.

My own morning glories stopped blooming almost overnight. However, during the hottest dryest spell in history they were at their best. We blame the cold weather.

The morning it turned cold we went out as usual with our cup of morning coffee to see the morning glories. There was none so we thought it too cold for them to open. Now we have only a few blooms each morning.

Mrs. Milton Keistadt, N. Court St., reported good luck with her zinnias this year. She always has, good luck with them and provides the bouquets each year for her church circle meeting.

Those Exotic Night Blossoms Are Well Worth Long Waiting

By MRS. ELIZABETH JONES

The average Pickaway County night blooming cereus is an ungainly plant. It is often grotesque in appearance. A specimen with any age (and many are old plants) has to be propped up with stakes and string.

Night blooming cereus is a tender succulent that must be wintered indoors. This means that each spring the heavy pot must be carried out of the basement and placed on the patio or porch.

In short, the night blooming cereus in Ohio is a nuisance 364 days out of the year.

And then comes the night of wonder! This is the night the plant blooms. The blossoms will be limp the next morning. Their fragile beauty will be entirely gone. But who cares? A miracle was wrought the night before.

TAKE the Noble Barrs of 160 E. Town St., for instance. They have a 10-year-old night blooming cereus. Last Tuesday night there were six blossoms on their plant.

Friends, neighbors and kinfolks arrived to see the horticultural marvel.

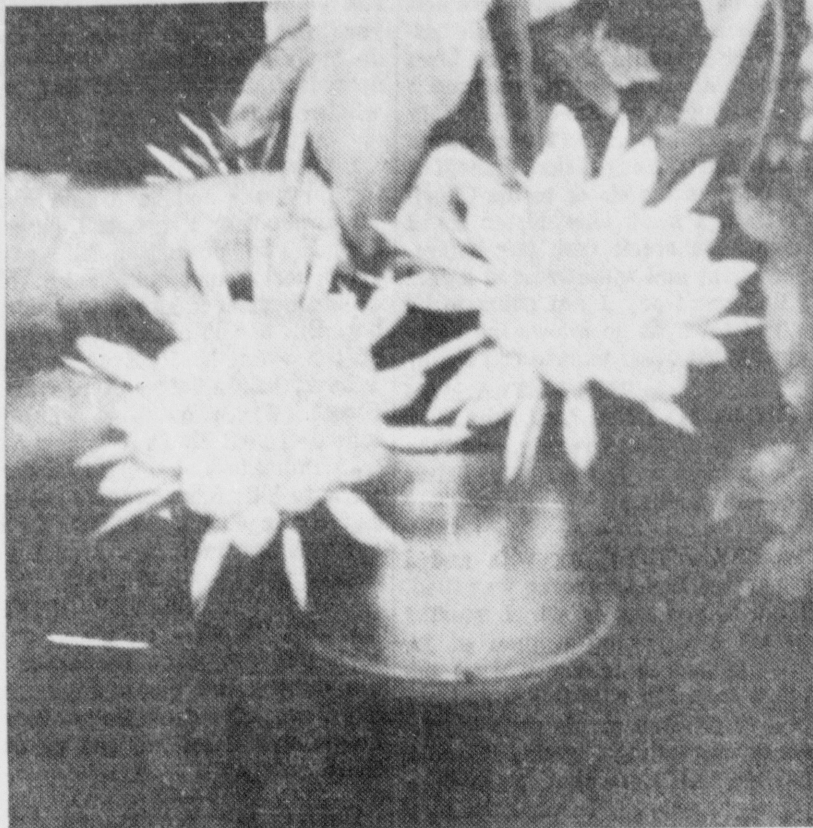

Mrs. Barr says she knew by six o'clock that evening that the blossoms were imminent. The elongated buds were parting, cracking a little.

According to Mrs. Barr, one does not actually see the blossoms open. There was no perceptible movement. The pink sepals parted to free the flower. The whole plant began to sway as though in a breeze. Then suddenly the flowers! All six opened at precisely the same moment.

The white blossoms measure about five of six inches across. The fragile flowers have an inexplicable quality of celestial purity. To look into the heart of the flower is truly like a glimpse of Heaven.

Mrs. Barr is under the impression that there is a legend connected with this flower. Inside its throat is a star-like formation which Mrs. Barr says could symbolize the Star of Bethlehem. It could indeed.

ABOUT 11:30 p. m. the Barrs retired but not before Noble Barr had taken 25 feet of colored movie film of the flower and countless black and white snap shots. And not before Mrs. Barr had cut four of the six blossoms, placed them in plastic bags and put them in the refrigerator.

THE FAIREST FLOWER — Here is the night blooming cereus which last week burst into blossom with six flowers. The plant belongs to the Noble Barrs, E. Town St. Earlier there were 10 buds, four of which dried up. The flowers last only one night and usually by morning are limp and unbeautiful. This plant is about 10 years old.

Mrs. Barr says they will keep a week or more like this.

Visitors came even after the Barrs retired, bringing flashlights so they could see these rare and beautiful blossoms. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Anderson were the last visitors Tuesday night.

Mrs. Barr says that strangely enough the flowers held their own until after ten o'clock the next day. Generally blossoms are limp and have a scalded look by morning.

The Barr's night blooming cereus plant is rather symmetrical. It is held in place by broomsticks and string. It has excellent foliage.

This plant was given to Mrs. Barr by a sister-in-law in Michigan 10 years ago. Then it was a mere slip. Now it is a heavy plant with all the signs of maturity.

Each year the plant winters in the basement. Each summer it is brought upstairs to the back porch. Receiving the rare and delicate flowers picked by Mrs. Barr were: Mrs. C. M. May, Ringgold; Mrs. George Cloud and her first grade students at Walnut St. School; Mrs. Barr's sister who lives in Lancaster and the Circleville Fire department.

Next Civil Rights Move May Be in Federal Housing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The next big move in the civil rights field may be the long-promised presidential order outlawing discrimination in federally aided housing.

President Kennedy has delayed for 20 months, waiting for what he has called an appropriate time to sign it. A made-to-order occasion is coming right up.

It is Sept. 22, the 100th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation. Yet Washington isn't making any bets Kennedy will find that anniversary appropriate.

Lincoln signed two Emancipation Proclamations—a preliminary one of Sept. 22, 1862, and the final freeing of the slaves in Jan. 1, 1863.

NEW YORK (AP) — The characters—or reasonably exact facsimiles—have been seen on a thousand and one nights of television, but NBC's 90-minute, "The Virginian" may add some new life to the Old West.

One wonders how the producers can maintain a fast pace while turning out, in effect, a full-length film feature a week, but the opening show of the series Wednesday night was interesting and offbeat.

All that is left of Owen Wister's novel are the names. Neither the Virginian, played by newcomer James Drury, nor Judge Garth, his ranchowner boss, played by Lee J. Cobb, had much to do. Neither did the other regular characters: the town newspaper editor—a pretty girl—a pair of fun-loving cowhands and the ranch owner's teenage daughter.

The interest centered on the guest stars. Hugh O'Brian played the mysterious avenging stranger as if he had never heard of Wyatt Earp and Colleen Dewhurst was a frustrated, full-blooded spinster schoolmarm. Both were excellent.

The program opened with a hanging, off-camera, but the story immediately became an obvious tale of vengeance. Although there was a whale of a fight between the Virginian and the stranger, the only gunfire was a demonstration of trick shooting.

The series, handsome indeed in color, ought to attract a big audience. Like "Bonanza," there's something in it for everybody.

MGM, the film company that in the 1930s had the most glamorous stars under contract, is producing two hour television specials—one on Greta Garbo and another one, "King of Hollywood," on Clark Gable.

Bus-Truck Crash Leaves 38 Injured

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A bus-truck collision on the fog-shrouded Ohio Turnpike early today resulted in injuries to 38 persons.

Thirteen of the injured were hospitalized but none was reported in serious condition.

Summit County sheriff's deputies said a Continental Trailways bus with 45 aboard rammed into the rear of a semi tractor-trailer on the toll road about two miles east of Hudson.

Both vehicles were westbound and rolled off the road and down an embankment. The bus remained upright but the truck turned over in a field near Hudson-Aurora Road. It was foggy at the time, deputies said.

Deputies said the bus was en route from Pittsburgh to Chicago and several of the passengers were recently discharged servicemen. Thirty-eight persons on the bus were injured, including the bus driver, George Wheeler, 28, of Pittsburgh.

Ten of the injured were admitted in Ravenna and three to St. Thomas Hospital in Akron. Hospital authorities said they suffered multiple injuries and all were listed in satisfactory condition.

Addressing the annual meeting of the International Monetary Fund, Maudling unveiled his anticipated plan to suggest new initiatives that would, in his view, strengthen the currencies of the Western world.

He said the immediate world monetary system is more encouraging than might have been expected a year ago—particularly with respect to the U.S. dollar. But he said he does not believe there is yet the final answer to longer-term problems.

In advance of Maudling's address, U.S. officials had stated publicly that they see no need for major innovations in the monetary system. The question was not raised by Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, who spoke shortly before Maudling.

Dillon, in his talk, said that the United States will push ahead with efforts to strengthen the dollar. He believes solution of the dollar problem is in sight, he said.

Maudling broached his plan as a possible method of increasing monetary reserves to finance a growing volume of world trade. At present, such reserves are largely limited to each country's holdings of gold, dollars and pounds sterling.

The British financial leader suggested that reserves be expanded further by encouraging hard-currency countries to hold other countries' currencies in their own reserve funds.

He said that one method might be to set up a mutual currency account in the IMF—an account in which the hard-currency countries could deposit their holdings of other currencies.

Claims against the account, Maudling said, would attract the guarantee that attaches to holdings in the fund.

That appeared to be the key statement in his address.

James R. Sullivan of Cleveland, assistant vice president of sales for the New York Central, and A. Paul Funkhouser of Roanoke, Norfolk & Western Railway assistant general counsel, here with Morris for an educational seminary, added that two Kennedy-backed bills now pending in Congress, if passed, would be a great help to the transportation and the railroad industry.

Railroads Hail JFK Proposals

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — President Kennedy's efforts to help transportation are a major breakthrough toward solving the industry's many problems, a team of railroad executives say.

"The president's action is the most gratifying development in transportation," Doyle S. Morris of Cleveland, general solicitor for the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Co. said. "To our knowledge it is the first time a president has ever addressed himself personally to the problems we face."

James R. Sullivan of Cleveland, assistant vice president of sales for the New York Central, and A. Paul Funkhouser of Roanoke, Norfolk & Western Railway assistant general counsel, here with Morris for an educational seminary, added that two Kennedy-backed bills now pending in Congress, if passed, would be a great help to the transportation and the railroad industry.

Less clear are situations in which the government merely funnels money, when needed, into the banking system and the savings and loan industry to pump up the supply of mortgage credit; or merely regulates the lenders, or just provides insurance for their deposits, which may in time become mortgage loans.

In these and other ways the government has some strings however tenuous, on virtually every lender. Can it therefore dictate the terms of his loans? Most government lawyers say yes, in this case. They believe it would be impractical, if not illegal, to issue an order which binds some agencies in the housing credit field and not others.

Global Monetary Reserve Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sir Reginald Maudling, Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, has advocated creation of an international monetary reserve guaranteed against issues should any of the national currencies in the pool be devalued.

Paul Funkhouser of Roanoke, Norfolk & Western Railway assistant general counsel, here with Morris for an educational seminary, added that two Kennedy-backed bills now pending in Congress, if passed, would be a great help to the transportation and the railroad industry.

Less clear are situations in which the government merely funnels money, when needed, into the banking system and the savings and loan industry to pump up the supply of mortgage credit; or merely regulates the lenders, or just provides insurance for their deposits, which may in time become mortgage loans.

In these and other ways the government has some strings however tenuous, on virtually every lender. Can it therefore dictate the terms of his loans? Most government lawyers say yes, in this case. They believe it would be impractical, if not illegal, to issue an order which binds some agencies in the housing credit field and not others.

Global Monetary Reserve Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sir Reginald Maudling, Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, has advocated creation of an international monetary reserve guaranteed against issues should any of the national currencies in the pool be devalued.

Addressing the annual meeting of the International Monetary Fund, Maudling unveiled his anticipated plan to suggest new initiatives that would, in his view, strengthen the currencies of the Western world.

He said the immediate world monetary system is more encouraging than might have been expected a year ago—particularly with respect to the U.S. dollar. But he said he does not believe there is yet the final answer to longer-term problems.

In advance of Maudling's address, U.S. officials had stated publicly that they see no need for major innovations in the monetary system. The question was not raised by Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, who spoke shortly before Maudling.

Dillon, in his talk, said that the United States will push ahead with efforts to strengthen the dollar. He believes solution of the dollar problem is in sight, he said.

Maudling broached his plan as a possible method of increasing monetary reserves to finance a growing volume of world trade. At present, such reserves are largely limited to each country's holdings of gold, dollars and pounds sterling.

The British financial leader suggested that reserves be expanded further by encouraging hard-currency countries to hold other countries' currencies in their own reserve funds.

He said that one method might be to set up a mutual currency account in the IMF—an account in which the hard-currency countries could deposit their holdings of other currencies.

Claims against the account, Maudling said, would attract the guarantee that attaches to holdings in the fund.

That appeared to be the key statement in his address.

James R. Sullivan of Cleveland, assistant vice president of sales for the New York Central, and A. Paul Funkhouser of Roanoke, Norfolk & Western Railway assistant general counsel, here with Morris for an educational seminary, added that two Kennedy-backed bills now pending in Congress, if passed, would be a great help to the transportation and the railroad industry.

Cincinnati To Hear More Slaying Data

CINCINNATI (AP) — John S. Cooper, 41, returns to the courtroom today to hear further testimony on details of finding dismembered parts of the body of his 20-year-old stepson along roadsides in Georgia and Florida.

Cooper also is charged with mutilation of a human body but is being tried solely on a second-degree murder charge in the death of John C. Jackson, the stepson, last winter.

Sheriff Daniel S. Hudson of Worth County, Ga., testified before Common Pleas Court Judge Simon Leis Wednesday about finding the torso shortly before midnight Jan. 31 along U.S. 82 near Sylvester, Ga. He said the torso was sent to the Duval County (Fla.) Medical Center at Jacksonville where it was found to match limbs that were found in Florida.

T. Sgt. James D. Sloan, stationed at Myrtle Beach Air Force Base, Fla., told the jury he found a skull, partly decomposed, on April 16 as he walked his dog along U.S. 301 south of Hawthorne, Fla.

Both the torso and skull have been identified as Jackson's.

Around two million members of the nation's labor force suffer from alcoholism, costing America an industry around $1 billion per year in absenteeism, reduced efficiency and increased accidents, according to the Florida Alcohol Rehabilitation Program.

Less clear are situations in which the government merely funnels money, when needed, into the banking system and the savings and loan industry to pump up the supply of mortgage credit; or merely regulates the lenders, or just provides insurance for their deposits, which may in time become mortgage loans.

Next Civil Rights Move May Be in Federal Housing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The next big move in the civil rights field may be the long-promised presidential order outlawing discrimination in federally aided housing.

President Kennedy has delayed for 20 months, waiting for what he has called an appropriate time to sign it. A made-to-order occasion is coming right up.

It is Sept. 22, the 100th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation. Yet Washington isn't making any bets Kennedy will find that anniversary appropriate.

Lincoln signed two Emancipation Proclamations—a preliminary one of Sept. 22, 1862, and the final freeing of the slaves in Jan. 1, 1863.

NEW YORK (AP) — The characters—or reasonably exact facsimiles—have been seen on a thousand and one nights of television, but NBC's 90-minute, "The Virginian" may add some new life to the Old West.

One wonders how the producers can maintain a fast pace while turning out, in effect, a full-length film feature a week, but the opening show of the series Wednesday night was interesting and offbeat.

All that is left of Owen Wister's novel are the names. Neither the Virginian, played by newcomer James Drury, nor Judge Garth, his ranchowner boss, played by Lee J. Cobb, had much to do. Neither did the other regular characters: the town newspaper editor—a pretty girl—a pair of fun-loving cowhands and the ranch owner's teenage daughter.

The interest centered on the guest stars. Hugh O'Brian played the mysterious avenging stranger as if he had never heard of Wyatt Earp and Colleen Dewhurst was a frustrated, full-blooded spinster schoolmarm. Both were excellent.

The program opened with a hanging, off-camera, but the story immediately became an obvious tale of vengeance. Although there was a whole of a fight between the Virginian and the stranger, the only gunfire was a demonstration of trick shooting.

The series, handsome indeed in color, ought to attract a big audience. Like "Bonanza," there's something in it for everybody.

MGM, the film company that in the 1930s had the most glamorous stars under contract, is producing two hour television specials—one on Greta Garbo and another one, "King of Hollywood," on Clark Gable.

Bus-Truck Crash Leaves 38 Injured

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A bus-truck collision on the fog-shrouded Ohio Turnpike early today resulted in injuries to 38 persons. Thirteen of the injured were hospitalized but none was reported in serious condition.

Summit County sheriff's deputies said a Continental Trailways bus with 45 aboard rammed into the rear of a semi tractor-trailer on the toll road about two miles east of Hudson.

Both vehicles were westbound and rolled off the road and down an embankment. The bus remained upright but the truck turned over in a field near Hudson-Aurora Road. It was foggy at the time, deputies said.

Deputies said the bus was en route from Pittsburgh to Chicago and several of the passengers were recently discharged servicemen. Thirty-eight persons on the bus were injured, including the bus driver, George Wheeler, 28, of Pittsburgh.

Ten of the injured were admitted in Ravenna and three to St. Thomas Hospital in Akron. Hospital authorities said they suffered multiple injuries and all were listed in satisfactory condition.

Railroads Hail JFK Proposals

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — President Kennedy's efforts to help transportation are a major breakthrough toward solving the industry's many problems, a team of railroad executives say.

"The president's action is the most gratifying development in transportation," Doyle S. Morris of Cleveland, general solicitor for the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Co. said. "To our knowledge it is the first time a president has ever addressed himself personally to the problems we face."

James R. Sullivan of Cleveland, assistant vice president of sales for the New York Central, and A. Paul Funkhouser of Roanoke, Norfolk & Western Railway assistant general counsel, here with Morris for an educational seminar, added that two Kennedy-backed bills now pending in Congress, if passed, would be a great help to the transportation and the railroad industry.

Global Monetary Reserve Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sir Reginald Mauding, Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, has advocated creation of an international monetary reserve guaranteed against issues should any of the national currencies in the pool be devalued.

Addressing the annual meeting of the International Monetary Fund, Mauding unveiled his anticipated plan to suggest new initiatives that would, in his view, strengthen the currencies of the Western world.

That appeared to be the key statement in his address.

Dillon, in his address, challenged other Western countries to press ahead with their own moves to promote stability of the dollar and other hard currencies.

Although thinking first of bolstering the dollar, Dillon made it clear that his broader concern was "the fundamental need to achieve an over-all equilibrium in basic trade and investment flows" among non-Communist nations.

The secretary has predicted that U.S. balance of payments deficit will be substantially eliminated by the end of 1963. The deficit—the amount of money leaving the country balanced against the amount coming in—has been running at an annual rate of $1.5 billion this year. The 1961 deficit was $2.5 billion.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

A large mass of cold Canadian air was centered over Minnesota Wednesday night. The cold air flowed south and eastward across the Midwest and into Ohio early today, dropping temperatures to well below seasonal normals.

The air was also quite dry, and skies were clear at sunrise today except for patches of clouds near Lake Erie.

The cold Canadian high pressure area will move south and eastward during the next 24 hours and will be centered over Ohio Friday morning.

Cold northerly winds flowing across Lake Erie will cause some cloudiness over the northern and central sections of the state today and possibly a few light showers over the northeast counties.

Skies will be clear and light frost is likely away from Lake Erie tonight.

Temperatures at dawn today were Toledo 35, Columbus 38, Youngstown 39, Cleveland 47 and Cincinnati 44.

Ashville News Report

By Mrs. Arthur Deal Jr.
Phone YU 3-6111

The Ashville Girl Scout Neighborhood Association met Thursday evening in the Ashville Methodist Church with nine members present and one guest, Mrs. Carolyn Moore, District VII Chairman.

Mrs. William Trimble, neighborhood chairman, opened the meeting with a poem. She asked that a new neighborhood chairman be secured at once as she must vacate the position due to other commitments. Anyone interested in scouting and has some scouting background should contact Mrs. Trimble if they are interested in becoming neighborhood chairman.

She announced that the Senior Girl Scout Troop has been asked to help with the mass polio immunization to be administered Nov. 11 at the new school.

Literature was distributed to leaders concerning the third Annual Dolly Derby sponsored jointly by the Ohio Trefoil Girl Scout Council and Goodwill Industries. The girls have been asked to gather dolls from their community and each scout dress one to be sold in the Goodwill Stores at Christmas time.

Mrs. Moore asked for a volunteer from the Ashville Community to attend a training session in Columbus on the new Girl Scout Training Program and then repeating it to the Ashville leaders. She also stressed that all members of the Ashville Neighborhood Association try to be present for the Ohio Trefoil Girl Scout Council meeting which will be held in Circleville, October 23.

Anyone having Girl Scout and Brownie uniforms that their child has no further use for or has outgrown have been asked to contact Marilyn Sabine, YU 3-5731 and anyone wishing to buy a used uniform should also contact Mrs. Sabine.

Mrs. Trimble asked that all leaders ready their displays for Pumpkin Show as soon as possible.

The Ashville Methodist Fellowship Class will hold a family basket dinner this Sunday at Tar Hollow State Park, south of Adelphi, beginning at 1:30 p. m.

Plans are made for the group to meet near the lake just before starting up the man hill after entering the park. Beverages will be furnished by the committee. Further information may be had by contacting one of the committee as follows: Mr. and Mrs. William Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stout, Mr. and Mrs. John Wheeler, and Miss Helen Irwin.

The Ashville Senior Girl Scout Troop No. 772, under the leadership of Mrs. Joe Vause and Mrs. William Trimble, met for their first fall meeting Monday evening in the Ashville School Building.

The following officers were elected: Patsy Welsh, president; Lucy Ann Vause, vice-president; Jo Ann Courtwright, secretary; and Madelyn Forquer, treasurer.

The Troop decided to seal one pound bags of potato chips as one of their projects for raising money for their trip to Washington D. C. next year. They also are still collecting soda bottle caps as a means of adding to their treasury. Anyone having caps should contact one of the above girls.

The next scheduled meeting will be held Oct. 1 at the school.

The Scioto Valley VFW Post 5067 of Ashville is sponsoring a Ham and Bean Supper, Sept. 29 at the Post Home on Fairfield-Harrisburg Road, about one-half mile west of Madison School. Serving will begin at 4 p. m.

Anyone having dolls of any description, size, or condition, are asked to donate them to the Girl Scouts, who are jointly working with Goodwill Industries to dress these dolls to be sold in their stores at Christmas time.

All dolls in need of repair will be put in shape by the Goodwill Industries before the girls dress them. Prizes are awarded the girls in different age classes.

The Girl Scouts will be making a door-to-door call for these dolls in Ashville on Monday.

If you have any dolls that are no further use to you, but could make a little girl happy on Christmas morning all fixed up like new and in a bright new outfit, please have it ready for the girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Desmar Spangler, 1338 North Bank, Millersport, and former residents of Ash-

ville, will celebrate their Golden Wedding this Sunday at the Ashville Evangelical United Brethren Church with open-house from 2 to 5 p. m.

The Spanglers are parents of a daughter, Mrs. Stella Myers of Columbus.

The Bastian Funeral Home made the following ambulance runs this past week: Tuesday, Sept. 11 took Rosie Carver to Doctor's Hospital; Wednesday, Sept. 12 returned Robert Cromley home from Grant Hospital and took Mrs. Kenneth Costlow to Berger Hospital; Friday, Sept. 14, returned Robert Finley from Doctor's Hospital to Pickerington; and Saturday, Sept. 15 took Jack Smith to Mercy Hospital and later rushed Oakey Ekers to Mercy Hospital after suffering a heart attack.

The Ashville Girl Scout Troop No. 647 held its monthly meeting on Sept. 11 at the home of their leader, Carole Hickman. There eight members present and two visitors. Election of officers was held and the following were elected for the month of September and October: Donna Haddox, president; Sarah Cromley, vice-president; Linda Hickman, secretary; Donna Berry, treasurer; and Beverly Smith, scribe.

A camping trip was discussed. The meeting was closed by singing "Taps".

The Ruth Circle of the First English Lutheran Church will meet Wednesday evening, Sept. 19, at 8 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Elwood Morrison.

The Ashville Welfare Guild met at the home of Mrs. Agnes Reigels Monday afternoon, September 10 for their September meeting with Miss Doris H. Cook as co-hostess.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Miss Gladys Vause and Miss Cook opened the meeting with the group singing the Lord's Prayer.

Several discussions on projects for the good of the Guild were discussed.

Refreshments were served to 13 members by the hostesses. The next meeting will be held in the home of Miss Vause's with Miss Lulu Kuhlwein serving as co-hostess.

The Ashville Community Club will meet Monday evening at the Shelter House for a 6:30 dinner meeting. Members are urged to attend.

Mrs. Mae Coulter suffered a broken arm Monday night, September 10 when she fell at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Seibert Duvall.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Cromley and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Courtwright visited with Mr. and Mrs. Dave Klamfoth and family over the weekend.

The Ashville Girl Scout Troop No. 253, under the leadership of Mrs. Robert Sliwinski and Mrs. Don Welsh, attended a Pinata Party, sponsored by the F & R Lazarus Co., Monday evening.

The Scouts were offered the opportunity of seeing the native Peruvian Indians' costumes and dances as well as listening to their music played on hand-made instruments. Demonstrating her art at weaving, 18-year-old Maria showed the girls how it took a whole day of tedious work to complete only four inches of a woven fabric.

The girls were introduced to Regmunda, 8-year-old sister of Maria, who danced for them. Although she could not speak their language she made friends with the girls through their smiles.

On display were many articles ranging from house slippers to rugs, ski hats, panchos, and a large assortment of toys and statues. All items on display were made by hand by these people.

Those attending with the group were: Brenda Bausum, Jane Clay, Jody Deal, Debbie Flowers, Carla Hafey, Bonnie Peters, Linda Pestner, Sueie Sabine, Carol Sherman, Dayle Thomasson, Mary McMillon, Margie Watson and Emma Moore. Mothers helping were Mrs. William Sherman and Mrs. Harold Flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Siegle were hosts Saturday evening to the Oakgrove Farm Council meeting in their home on North Long St., Ashville.

The hosts planned a surprise an-

Russian Composer To Return To Homeland after 48 Years

MOSCOW (AP) — Igor Feodorovich Stravinsky comes back to his homeland Friday to demonstrate for the Russians what has come of the musical revolution he took to the West a half century ago and to hear what they have done with music while he was gone.

The mutual impact on his first return in 48 years is likely to be considerable, perhaps affectionate.

His Russian tour could be a brisk crackling of good will such as American poet Robert Frost engendered on his recent Soviet visit. Stravinsky, Russian-born and California-American by choice, is no less an outspoken individualist than the California-born New Englander Frost.

A large anniversary cake baked by Mrs. Ray Swoyer, centered the dining table. Refreshments were served to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hay, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cummins, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vause, Miss Gladys Vause, Mr. Charles Frank and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gutheil.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Tosca attended the National Young Executive of the Tobacco Association yearly meeting in Greensboro, N. C., for five days this past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith of Corpus Christi, Tex., visited Sunday and Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Baum. The Smiths are neighbors of the Baums when they visit in Corpus Christi.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Glick are parents of a daughter born Monday morning in Doctor's Hospital, Columbus. The baby, born at 9:49 p. m. weighed 7 pounds 1/2 ounces.

Students in our community who are off for college for the first time, most of them starting this week, are as follows: Mike Courtwright, Morehead College, Ky.; Kathy Stout, Capital University, Columbus; Dave Newton, Otterbein College, Westerville; Weston Flierl, Miami University, Oxford; Katherine Gardner, Riverside Methodist Nurses Training, Columbus; Nancy Featheringham, Brown's School of Technology, Columbus; Tom Rathburn, Tom Cline and Judy Moss, Ohio State University; and Robert Kuhlwein, Ashbury College.

Shelby Kitchen a fourth grade student at Ashville, suffered a broken leg Tuesday morning on the school playground. She was moved to Doctor's Hospital by the Bastian Funeral Home where her leg was set and later she was returned home. Shelby is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kitchen of Ashville.

Stravinsky's triumphant return is a belated and reconciliatory part of celebrations of his 80th birthday, now three months past.

In the earlier phases of the four-score birthday celebrations Stravinsky was entertained by the Kennedys in the White House, and somewhere along the way in Russia he is expected to meet Premier Khrushchev, as Frost did and as the touring good will clarinetist Benny Goodman did before him this year.

Khrushchev was friendly but frankly told Goodman he didn't dig Benny's music, and there is speculation as to whether the premier will comment on Stravinsky. Many others over the world have — often violently.

Soviet arbiters of art have prepared the way for Stravinsky in recent months by permitting for the first time renditions of many of the Stravinsky works that had been unacceptable under Soviet doctrine.

The small, wiry, octogenarian composer will find little of the old Russia on this first visit since 1914, — before World War I. There is a niece in Leningrad, Xenia Stravinsky, whom he will meet.

His father, a famous basso at the old czarist St. Petersburg (Leningrad) Opera, and his first teacher, Nicolai Rimsky-Korsakov are buried near each other in Novodevichy Cemetery.

The elder Stravinsky turned Igor away from music and sent him to law school, where he met a son of Rimsky-Korsakov, and then Rimsky himself, and his future was settled.

The classic academic imprint of Rimsky and the avant-garde encouragements of the ballet entrepreneur Diaghilev gave young Igor the sure-fingered grasp and the inventive fire that made him famous — and endlessly controversial — and now welcome in a more tolerant homeland.

Stravinsky will conduct concerts in Moscow and Leningrad, near Oranienbaum, where he was born June 17, 1882.

Ohio Magistrates Group Being Dissolved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A non-profit organization of former justices of the peace, some county judges and constables, called the Ohio Magistrate's Association is being dissolved.

The head of the association, James E. Voelkl of Upper Arlington, said its charter is being returned to the state.

Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy had filed a suit in appellate court to dissolve the charter, saying the action followed an investigation of complaints about fund-raising activities. Association members aided in the investigation.

Hiram College Approves Higher Salary Schedule

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—Full professors at Hiram College will be paid anywhere from $10,000 to $16,000 next year under a new salary schedule announced today.

The new schedule, approved earlier by the board of trustees, also includes salary increases in all ranks effective next July 1.

Paul F. Sharp, president at Hiram, said the new scale will rank Hiram "among the best liberal arts colleges in the country and make us competitive with most universities."

Ashville News Report

By Mrs. Arthur Deal Jr.
Phone YU 3-6111

The Ashville Girl Scout Neighborhood Association met Thursday evening at the Ashville Methodist Church with nine members present and one guest, Mrs. Carolyn Moore, District VII Chairman.

Mrs. William Trimble, neighborhood chairman, opened the meeting with a poem. She asked that a new neighborhood chairman be secured at once as she must vacate the position due to other commitments. Anyone interested in scouting and has some scouting background should contact Mrs. Trimble if they are interested in becoming neighborhood chairman.

She announced that the Senior Girl Scout Troop has been asked to help with the mass polio immunization to be administered Nov. 11 at the new school.

Literature was distributed to leaders concerning the third Annual Dolly Derby sponsored jointly by the Ohio Girl Scout Council and Goodwill Industries. The girls have been asked to gather dolls from their community and each scout dress one to be sold in the Goodwill Stores at Christmas time.

Mrs. Moore asked for a volunteer from the Ashville Community to attend a training session in Columbus on the new Girl Scout Training Program and then repeating it to the Ashville leaders. She also stressed that all members of the Ashville Neighborhood Association try to be present for the Ohio Girl Scout Council meeting which will be held in Circleville, October 23.

Anyone having Girl Scout and Brownie uniforms that their child has no further use for or has outgrown have been asked to contact Marilyn Sabine, YU 3-5731 and anyone wishing to buy a used uniform should also contact Mrs. Sabine.

Mrs. Trimble asked that all leaders ready their displays for Pumpkin Show as soon as possible.

The Ashville Methodist Fellowship Class will hold a family basket dinner this Sunday at Tar Hollow State Park, south of Adelphi, beginning at 1:30 p. m.

Plans are made for the group to meet near the lake just before starting up the man hill after entering the park. Beverages will be furnished by the committee. Further information may be had by contacting one of the committee as follows: Mr. and Mrs. William Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stout, Mr. and Mrs. John Wheeler, and Miss Helen Irwin.

The Ashville Senior Girl Scout Troop No. 772, under the leadership of Mrs. Joe Vause and Mrs. William Trimble, met for their first fall meeting Monday evening in the Ashville School Building.

The following officers were elected: Patsy Welsh, president; Lucy Ann Vause, vice-president; Joan Courtwright, secretary; and Madelyn Forquer, treasurer.

The Troop decided to seal one pound bags of potato chips as one of their projects for raising money for their trip to Washington D. C. next year. They also are still collecting soda bottle caps as a means of adding to their treasury. Anyone having caps should contact one of the above girls.

The next scheduled meeting will be held Oct. 1 at the school.

The Scioto Valley VFW Post 5067 of Ashville is sponsoring a Ham and Bean Supper, Sept. 29 at the Post Home on Fairfield-Harrisburg Road, about one-half mile west of Madison School. Serving will begin at 4 p. m.

Anyone having dolls of any description, size, or condition, are asked to donate them to the Girl Scouts, who are jointly working with Goodwill Industries to dress these dolls to be sold in their stores at Christmas time.

All dolls in need of repair will be put in shape by the Goodwill Industries before the girls dress them. Prizes are awarded the girls in different age classes.

The Girl Scouts will be making a door-to-door call for these dolls in Ashville on Monday.

If you have any dolls that are no further use to you, but could make a little girl happy on Christmas morning all fixed up like new and in a bright new outfit, please have it ready for the girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Desmar Spangler, 1338 North Bank, Millersport, and former residents of Ash-

ville, will celebrate their Golden Wedding this Sunday at the Ashville Evangelical United Brethren Church with open-house from 2 to 5 p. m.

The Spanglers are parents of a daughter, Mrs. Stella Myers of Columbus.

The Bastian Funeral Home made the following ambulance runs this past week: Tuesday, Sept. 11 took Rosie Carver to Doctor's Hospital; Wednesday Sept. 12 returned Robert Cromley home from Grant Hospital and took Mrs. Kenneth Costlow to Berger Hospital; Friday, Sept. 14, returned Robert Finley from Doctor's Hospital to Pickerington; and Saturday, Sept. 15 took Jack Smith to Mercy Hospital and later rushed Oakley Ekers to Mercy Hospital after suffering a heart attack.

The Ashville Girl Scout Troop No. 647 held its monthly meeting on Sept. 11 at the home of their leader, Carole Hickman. There eight members present and two visitors. Election of officers was held and the following were elected for the month of September and October: Donna Haddox, president; Sarah Cromley, vice-president; Linda Hickman, secretary; Donna Berry, treasurer; and Beverly Smith, scribe.

A camping trip was discussed. The meeting was closed by singing "Taps".

The Ruth Circle of the First English Lutheran Church will meet Wednesday evening, Sept. 19, at 8 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Elwood Morrison.

The Ashville Welfare Guild met at the home of Mrs. Agnes Reigels Monday afternoon, September 10 for their September meeting with Miss Doris H. Cook as co-hostess.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Miss Gladys Vause and Miss Cook opened the meeting with the group singing the D o x o l o g y and repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Several discussions on projects for the good of the Guild were discussed.

Refreshments were served to 13 members by the hostesses. The next meeting will be held in the home of Miss Vause's with Miss Lulu Kuhlwein serving as co-hostess.

The Ashville Community Club will meet Monday evening at the Shelter House for a 6:30 dinner meeting. Members are urged to attend.

Mrs. Mae Coulter suffered a broken arm Monday night, September 10 when she fell at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Seibert Duvall.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Cromley and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Courtwright visited with Mr. and Mrs. Dave Klamfoth and family over the weekend.

The Ashville Girl Scout Troop No. 253, under the leadership of Mrs. Robert Sliwinski and Mrs. Don Welsh, attended a Pinata Party, sponsored by the F & R Lazarus Co., Monday evening.

The Scouts were offered the opportunity of seeing the native Peruvian Indians' costumes and dances as well as listening to their music played on hand-made instruments. Demonstrating her art at weaving, 18-year-old Maria showed the girls how it took a whole day of tedious work to complete only four inches of a woven fabric.

The girls were introduced to Regmunda, 8-year-old sister of Maria, who danced for them. Although she could not speak their language she made friends with the girls through their smiles.

On display were many articles ranging from house slippers to rugs, ski hats, panchos, and a large assortment of toys and statues. All items on display were made by hand by these people.

Those attending with the group were: Brenda Bausum, Jane Clay, Jody Deal, Debbie Flowers, Carla Hafe, Bonnie Peters, Linda Pester, Suele Sabine, Carol Sherman, Dayle Thomasson, Mary McMillon, Margie Watson and Emma Moore. Mothers helping were Mrs. William Sherman and Mrs. Harold Flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Siegle were hosts Saturday evening to the Oakgrove Farm Council meeting in their home on North Long St., Ashville.

The hosts planned a surprise an-

Columbus Educators OK Prayer in Class

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Columbus Board of Education has given teachers authority to use prayers in classrooms and assembly rooms as they "deem proper, fitting and appropriate to the occasion."

The board set its policy Tuesday in a resolution based on a ruling by City Attorney Russell Leach. He had held the recent U.S. Supreme Court decision prohibits only established prayers and does not limit the offering of prayers by either teachers or pupils.

Drysdale, Wills Give New Spark To Los Angeles

Pitcher Halts Loss Streak as Maury Triggers Run Attack

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
With Don Drysdale applying the stop and Maury Wills the go, the Los Angeles Dodgers are back on the track in their stretch drive for the National League's winner circle.

Drysdale put the stopper on the Dodgers' three-game losing string Wednesday with a five-hit pitching gem as the front-runners knocked off Milwaukee's streaking Braves 4-0.

Wills triggered the attack by opening the game with a single, stealing second, moving to third on a bunt hit and scoring the only run Drysdale needed on a double play grounder.

The Dodger whippet has 94 steals, with one game left to match or better Ty Cobb's 154-game record of 96. His chance to better the 47-year-old mark will come Friday night at St. Louis against the Cardinals.

The Dodgers maintained their 3½ game lead over the San Francisco Giants, who powered their way out to a six-game losing slump on homers by Willie Mays and Tom Haller and beat the Cards, 7-4. The loss was the eighth in a row for St. Louis.

Bob Friend pitched a six-hitter and Donn Clendenon homered as Pittsburgh trimmed Cincinnati by 1-0, dropping the third-place Reds 5½ games off the pace. Philadelphia downed Chicago 4-3 in a doubleheader opener shortened to six innings by rain. The second Phillies-Cub game was postponed, as was the two-night doubleheader scheduled at New York between the Mets and Houston.

In the American League, the New York Yankees stayed four games in front by overcoming Washington 8-5, runnerup Minnesota swamped Detroit 12-5, Los Angeles bombed Baltimore, 9-4, Chicago edged Boston 3-2 in 10 innings, and Cleveland outlasted Kansas City 10-9.

Mays whacked his 45th homer, high in the majors, and Haller connected for two as the Giants hopped on Larry Jackson and the tailspinning Cards for all seven of their runs in the first three innings.

Haller homered in the second, making it 4-2. Then the Giants routed Jackson with a five-run explosion in the third, when Mays homered with two on and Haller with one aboard.

Bob Friend of the Pirates became an 18-game winner with his six-hit shutout of Cincinnati. Clendenon settled matters in the seventh with his homer.

By winning their abbreviated match with the Cubs, the Phillies made it five straight victories, 14 in their last 17 games and moved up to the .500 mark for the first time since May.

60-1 Shot Returns $125.80 at Lebanon

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Brown Beulah, a 60-1 shot, romped home in 2:08 2-5 at Lebanon Raceway Wednesday night to pay her backers $125.80—biggest payoff in the track's 12-year history.

Lebanon will be closed today because of the running in Delaware of the 17th annual Little Brown Jug.

When John Crow of the St. Louis Cardinals eleven threw a wobbly pass covering 15 yards, teammate Bobby Conrad called it a knuckleball.

Donovan Wins 20th Victory For Indians

KANSAS CITY (AP)—It took the Cleveland Indians six years to get another 20-game winner, but now they have one in Dick Donovan.

And outfielder Walter Bond, perennially tagged by the Tribe as a "corner," and John Romano helped Donovan reach the coveted 20 mark with an impressive display of slugging.

Bond and Romano each clubbed two homers and a double and drove in all the Tribe runs Wednesday night as Cleveland eked out a 10-9 victory over Kansas City. The roundtrippers broke the Indians' club mark of 167 homers in a season, set in 1959. Bond drove in six runs and Romano four.

Donovan got the victory but was ineffective and left in the sixth inning. He allowed 12 hits.

No Cleveland pitcher had won 20 games since Herb Score, Early Wynn and Bob Lemon turned the trick in 1956. The triumph came despite a furious, four-run rally by the Athletics in the last of the ninth.

Bond socked a two-run homer in the first to break the club mark and belted another in the seventh. Romano followed a catcher homer with one of his own and now has 22, breaking the club record for a catcher he set last year.

Pedro Ramos (8 - 12) hurled against the A's Bill Fischer today.

Today's Jug Day At Delaware Oval

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Thirteen 3-year-old pacers, making up the Little Brown Jug's fastest field ever, were poised for today's 17th running of the colorful harness horse race with a $75,038 purse.

Dry, crisp weather with temperatures in the 60s was forecast as the vanguard of an expected crowd of 35,000 arrived to watch the speedy sidewheelers go after the third jewel in pacing's triple crown.

Although the field included Ranger Knight, winner of one leg of the triple crown by taking the Cane Futurity, and Thor Hanover, who got the other in the Messenger Stakes, Coffee Break held on as at least co-favorite. Although bothered by bowed tendons, he has paced the fastest mile of any harness horse this year, a 1:57 at Springfield, Ill.

But Thor Hanover (best clocking 1:58) Meadow Battles (1:58 1-5), Leigh Hanover (2:00 4-5), Haughton Hanver (2:00 4-5) and Play Bill (2:03 2-5) figured to make the first heat, which included Coffee Break, a torrid race.

Ranger Knight (1:59 1-5 in the Cane) ruled as choice in the second heat. But there was strong support for Mighty Tar Heel (1:57 4-5), Meadow Newport (1:59 1-5), Gamecock (1:59 3-5), Quick Pick (1:59 4-5), Buxton Hanover (2:00) and Smart Money (2:00 3-5).

The Jug record is a 1:58 3-5 heat by Muncy Hanover in 1960.

The best drivers in the nation were here. Del Miller, all-time leading money winner in Jug driving, had Meadow Battles. Johnny Simpson, whose three Jug victories is the record, had both Thor Hanover in the first heat and Gamecock in the second. Stanley Dancer, who reined Henry T. Adios to the 1961 Jug laurels, had Leigh Hanover.

The other sulky sitters were Frank Ervin (Play Bill), Joe O'Brien (Haughton Hanover), hometown product Curly Smart (Smart Money), Dick Buxton (Ranger Knight), Billy Haughton (Buxton Hanover), Del Cameron (Meadow Newport), Dick Williams (Mighty Tar Heel) and George Sholy (Coffee Break).

Miller, Simpson, Smart, Cameron, O'Brien, Ervin, Haughton and Dancer stood 1-2-3-4-5-6-7-9 in all-time Little Brown Jug money winning going into today.

Solty, on the hot spot as a favorite, oddly enough was making his debut in the classic. But he was regarded highly and has driven Coffee Break, owned by an Archbold, Ohio, partnership, to several big triumphs.

The first two heats, each worth 30 per cent of the purse, would qualify nine horses for the third heat while eliminating two of the six in the first romp and two of the seven in the second. The nine were scheduled to go the third heat for another 30 per cent of the payoff.

If a horse other than one of the earlier winners came in ahead, a fourth heat run-off among the three winners would decide the champion, who adds the remaining 10 per cent of the purse to his earnings.

TV Grid Team To Open DVL Play at Triad

Films of Viking Tilts Are Scheduled For Showing Tonight

The Teays Valley High School footballers, with two non-league victories to their credit, open play in the Darby Valley League Friday traveling to Triad.

Today at 7:30 p. m. the Teays Valley athletic department will show, for public viewing, the films of the two games played this year, it was announced yesterday by Jack Weikert, a member of the coaching staff.

The films will be shown in the new Teays Valley High School on Route 752 just north of Ashville. Weikert stressed that it is a public showing and everyone is invited.

The Teays Valley gridders, although they have won the two games they have played this year, are still an unknown quantity in the Darby Valley League. Early season reports indicate that West Jefferson, a perennial football power in the league and Madison South are the favored teams to win the league title this year.

TRIAD has played only one game this year, downing Logan Hills 14-6.

The Teays Valley coaching staff has not had a chance to scout the team, meaning little is known about the opponents.

Marion Waites, head coach at Teays Valley, says that they know the Triad team uses the quarterback option, running both inside and outside.

Waites has been working with the Vikings to correct defensive mistakes. He said that while they limited Walnut Ridge to 95 yards rushing, over one-half of that yardage was gained through one spot in the Viking line.

The staff also is stressing the running attack. Although Teays Valley outgained Walnut Ridge 13 first downs to eight, Waites was not satisfied with the overall yardage.

Waites has told his gridders that since they don't know very much about their opponents Friday they must be prepared for anything. "We will have to play good football to win," he added.

Triad is about four miles north of Mechanicsburg on Route 29 in Champaign County.

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, a native of Conway, Ark., won his first golf title as a 19-year-old left-hander. He won the Arkansas amateur title and a year later became a right-handed golfer.

TURN ON THE LIGHTS — Roy Dunkle, president of the Logan Elm Booster Club, prepares to throw the switch that turns on the lights at the Logan Elm football field. The quartz-iodide lights are rated among the most modern outside lighting systems in existence. There are four poles with sixteen 1,500 watt lamps on a pole. Looking on, from the left, are: Bud Fischer, of the South Central REA, Guy Court-right, Bud Parker, Ned Young who installed the lights, Lawrence McKenzie, Dunkle, Neil Morris, Edgar Harrall and Al Gabriel. (Staff Photo)

Logan Elm Gridders To Play Under New Lights Tomorrow

The Logan Elm football team, sporting a 1-1 record for the season, plays a non-conference tilt Friday, hosting New Lexington St. Aloysius on the newly completed Logan Elm High School gridiron.

The Logan Elm Boosters have installed a new lighting system on the field. Bleachers have been erected on both sides of the gridiron.

The lighting system is the most modern system existing, according to Bud Fischer, personnel director of the South Central REA. The REA provided the lights and material at cost for the Booster Club.

Ned Young handled the actual installation.

THE CLUB plans to finance the lighting system by selling non-interest bearing certificates.

The Braves dropped their season opener to the Plains of Mt. Sterling by a score of 20-14. In the second game at Paint Valley, they exhibited an increased offensive punch to wallop their Scioto Valley Conference rivals, 39-8.

Friday New Lexington St. Al beat Laurelville 22-8 here.

Keith Merrin, head coach of the Braves, says that the Perry County team probably has the best right halfback the Braves have faced this year. The head mentor said the opponents play a defense that will be strange to his team.

The St. Al team deploys into a seven-man line, with one middle linebacker, two defensive linebackers about five yards behind the line of scrimmage and a lone safety playing about eight yards deep.

The Braves will concentrate on defense this week. Although Paint Valley was unable to score against the varsity, Merrin said the Braves need to sharpen their defensive assignments and technique.

OFFENSIVELY he plans to stress the passing game during practice.

Arnie Gabriel, the Braves bruising fullback, has missed some contact work in practice this week because of a sore shoulder. But he will be ready for action in tomorrow's game.

Other than Gabriel's touchy shoulder, the Braves have suffered no injuries. They are expected to be at full strength when they meet New Lexington.

Drysdale, Wills Give New Spark To Los Angeles

Pitcher Halts Loss Streak as Maury Triggers Run Attack

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
With Don Drysdale applying the stop and Maury Wills the go, the Los Angeles Dodgers are back on the track in their stretch drive for the National League's winner circle.

Drysdale put the stopper on the Dodgers' three-game losing string Wednesday with a five-hit pitching gem as the front-runners knocked off Milwaukee's streaking Braves 4-0.

Wills triggered the attack by opening the game with a single, stealing second, moving to third on a bunt hit and scoring the only run Drysdale needed on a double play grounder.

The Dodger whippet has 94 steals, with one game left to match or better Ty Cobb's 154-game record of 96. His chance to better the 47-year-old mark will come Friday night at St. Louis against the Cardinals.

The Dodgers maintained their 3½ game lead over the San Francisco Giants, who powered their way out a six-game losing slump on homers by Willie Mays and Tom Haller and beat the Cards, 7-4. The loss was the eighth in a row for St. Louis.

Bob Friend pitched a six-hitter and Donn Clendenon homered as Pittsburgh trimmed Cincinnati by 1-0, dropping the third-place Reds 5½ games off the pace. Philadelphia downed Chicago 4-3 in a doubleheader opener shortened to six innings by rain. The second Phillies-Cub game was postponed, as was the two-night doubleheader scheduled at New York between the Mets and Houston.

In the American League, the New York Yankees stayed four games in front by overcoming Washington 8-5, runnerup Minnesota swamped Detroit 12-5, Los Angeles bombed Baltimore, 9-4, Chicago edged Boston 3-2 in 10 innings, and Cleveland outlasted Kansas City 10-9.

Mays whacked his 45th homer, high in the majors, and Haller connected for two as the Giants hopped on Larry Jackson and the tailspinning Cards for all seven of their runs in the first three innings.

Haller homered in the second, making it 4-2. Then the Giants routed Jackson with a five-run explosion in the third, when Mays homered with two on and Haller with one aboard.

Bob Friend of the Pirates became an 18-game winner with his six-hit shutout of Cincinnati. Clendenon settled matters in the seventh with his homer.

By winning their abbreviated match with the Cubs, the Phillies made it five straight victories, 14 in their last 17 games and moved up to the .500 mark for the first time since May.

60-1 Shot Returns $125.80 at Lebanon

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Brown Beulah, a 60-1 shot, romped home in 2:08 2-5 at Lebanon Raceway Wednesday night to pay her backers $125.80—biggest payoff in the track's 12-year history.

Lebanon will be closed today because of the running in Delaware of the 17th annual Little Brown Jug.

When John Crow of the St. Louis Cardinals eleven threw a wobbly pass covering 15 yards, teammate Bobby Conrad called it a knuckleball.

Donovan Wins 20th Victory For Indians

KANSAS CITY (AP)—It took the Cleveland Indians six years to get another 20-game winner, but now they have one in Dick Donovan.

And outfielder Walter Bond, perennially tagged by the Tribe as a "comer," and John Romano helped Donovan reach the coveted 20 mark with an impressive display of slugging.

Bond and Romano each clubbed two homers and a double and drove in all the Tribe runs Wednesday night as Cleveland eked out a 10-9 victory over Kansas City. The roundtrippers broke the Indians' club mark of 167 homers in a season, set in 1959. Bond drove in six runs and Romano four.

Donovan got the victory but was ineffective and left in the sixth inning. He allowed 12 hits.

No Cleveland pitcher had won 20 games since Herb Score, Early Wynn and Bob Lemon turned the trick in 1956. The triumph came despite a furious, four-run rally by the Athletics in the last of the ninth.

Bond socked a two-run homer in the first to break the club mark and belted another in the seventh. Romano followed each homer with one of his own and now has 22, breaking the club record for a catcher he set last year.

Pedro Ramos (8 - 12) hurled against the A's Bill Fischer today.

TV Grid Team To Open DVL Play at Triad

Films of Viking Tilts Are Scheduled For Showing Tonight

The Teays Valley High School footballers, with two non-league victories to their credit, open play in the Darby Valley League Friday traveling to Triad.

Today at 7:30 p. m. the Teays Valley athletic department will show, for public viewing, the films of the two games played this year, it was announced yesterday by Jack Weikert a member of the coaching staff.

The films will be shown in the new Teays Valley High School on Route 752 just north of Ashville. Weikert stressed that it is a public showing and everyone is invited.

The Teays Valley gridders, although they have won the two games they have played this year, are still an unknown quantity in the Darby Valley League. Early season reports indicate that West Jefferson, a perennial football power in the league and Madison South are the favored teams to win the league title this year.

TRIAD has played only one game this year, downing Logan Hills 14-6.

The Teays Valley coaching staff has not had a chance to scout the team, meaning little is known about the opponents.

Marion Waites, head coach at Teays Valley, says that they know the Triad team uses the quarterback option, running both inside and outside.

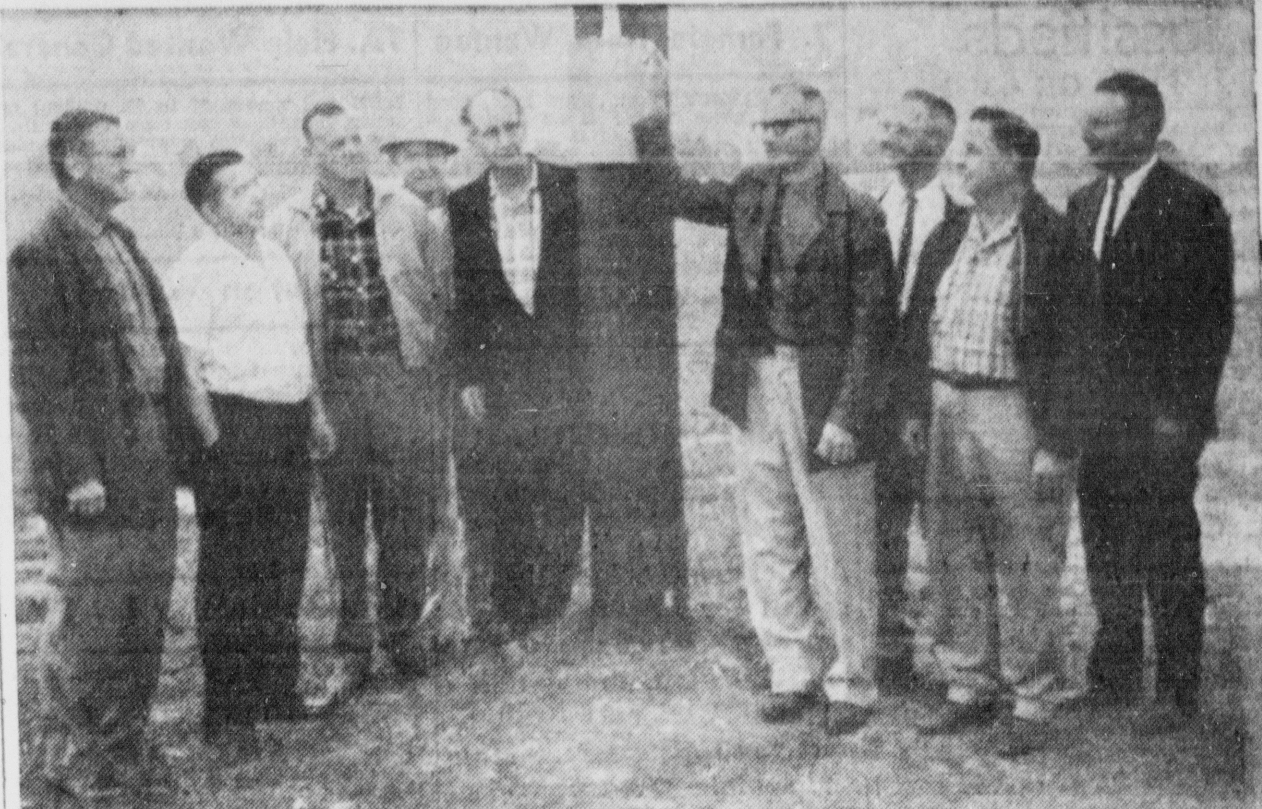

Waites has been working with the Vikings to correct defensive mistakes. He said that while they limited Walnut Ridge to 95 yards rushing, over one-half of that yardage was gained through one spot in the Viking line.

The staff also is stressing the running attack. Although Teays Valley outgained Walnut Ridge 13 first downs to eight, Waites was not satisfied with the overall yardage.

Waites has told his gridders that since they don't know very much about their opponents Friday they must be prepared for anything. "We will have to play good football to win," he added.

Triad is about four miles north of Mechanicsburg on Route 29 in Champaign County.

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, a native of Conway, Ark., won his first golf title as a 19-year-old left-hander. He won the Arkansas amateur title and a year later became a right-handed golfer.

TURN ON THE LIGHTS — Roy Dunkle, president of the Logan Elm football field. The quartz-iodide lights are rated among the most modern outside lighting systems in existence. There are four poles with sixteen 1,500 watt lamps on a pole. Looking on, from the left, are: Bud Fischer, of the South Central REA, Guy Court-right, Bud Parker, Ned Young who installed the lights, Lawrence McKenzie, Dunkle, Neil Morris, Edgar Harrall and Al Gabriel. (Staff Photo)

Logan Elm Gridders To Play Under New Lights Tomorrow

The Logan Elm football team, sporting a 1-1 record for the season, plays a non-conference tilt Friday, hosting New Lexington St. Aloysius on the newly completed Logan Elm High School gridiron.

The Logan Elm Boosters have installed a new lighting system on the field. Bleachers have been erected on both sides of the gridiron.

The lighting system is the most modern system existing, according to Bud Fischer, personnel director of the South Central REA. The REA provided the lights and material at cost for the Booster Club.

Ned Young handled the actual installation.

THE CLUB plans to finance the lighting system by selling non-interest bearing certificates.

The Braves dropped their season opener to the Plains of Mt. Sterling by a score of 20-14. In the second game at Paint Valley, they exhibited an increased offensive punch to wallop their Scioto Valley Conference rivals, 39-8.

Friday New Lexington St. Al beat Laurelville 22-8 here.

Keith Merrin, head coach of the Braves, says that the Perry County team probably has the best right halfback the Braves have faced this year. The head mentor said the opponents play a defense that will be strange to his team.

The St. Al team deploys into a seven-man line, with one middle linebacker, two defensive linebackers about five yards behind the line of scrimmage and a lone safety playing about eight yards deep.

The Braves will concentrate on defense this week. Although Paint Valley was unable to score against the varsity, Merrin said the Braves need to sharpen their defensive assignments and technique.

 OFFENSIVELY he plans to stress the passing game during practice.

Arnie Gabriel, the Braves bruising fullback, has missed some contact work in practice this week because of a sore shoulder. But he will be ready for action in tomorrow's game.

Other than Gabriel's touchy shoulder, the Braves have suffered no injuries. They are expected to be at full strength when they meet New Lexington.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has appealed to President Kennedy to give priority to public works projects in Ohio's depressed areas to give them an economic shot in the arm.

DiSalle said he has no dollar figure on the improvements which might be speeded up if the President accepts his suggestions.

In his three-point plan to start rebuilding the economy of southeastern Ohio, DiSalle suggested BOSTON (AP) — Edward M. Kennedy, a sensational winner in the Massachusetts Democratic primary, looks like a political natural today, and his backers are predicting that he will drive through in November to a seat in the U.S. Senate.

Ted crushed his opponent for the Democratic nomination, Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr., in a blitz that dumbfounded his own supporters no less than McCormack's.

The younger Kennedy, who is 30 and making his maiden run for elective office, took it all with glacial calm.

As he was hoisted onto the stage in the converted ballroom, he looked like a man who had known all along that it would be like this.

His juggernaut victory appears to be the result of four main factors—the Kennedy name in Massachusetts, Ted's natural talent for politics, a precision-engineered organization, and a debate that backfired on his opponent.

Second row — Louise Hoover, Dorothy Ransom, Harold Sharpe, Paul Congrove, Don Collins. Standing are Betty Lou Koch, county solicitation head Jack Alkire and Community Fund campaign chairman Earl Palm.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Back in the capital briefly after campaign talks at both ends of the state, Republican gubernatorial candidate James A. Rhodes warned today about industry being lured from Ohio.

He accused the administration of his opponent, Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, of failing to keep Ohio's economy strong. Rhodes emphasized again his contention that Ohio has lost 183,000 jobs since the 1957 employment peak.

It's Rhodes' opinion that the state needs a New Jobs and Industrial Development Authority to attract new industries and expand existing ones. He has been critical of the existing Department of Industrial and Economic Development.

DiSalle Appeals to Kennedy To Aid Ohio Depressed Areas

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has appealed to President Kennedy to give priority to public works projects in Ohio's depressed areas to give them an economic shot in the arm.

DiSalle released to newsmen copies of a letter dated Sept. 14 in which he suggested a special classification priority to be set up to speed highway construction, water impoundment and sewer project construction in economically depressed southeastern Ohio.

DiSalle said he has no dollar figure on the improvements which might be speeded up if the President accepts his suggestions.

DiSalle said the tax duplicates and the people in the depressed areas cannot stand the financial load of the improvements needed to bolster their economy.

In his three-point plan to start rebuilding the economy of southeastern Ohio, DiSalle suggested to Kennedy that good roads are the No. 1 need.

"Unless there is a good means of ingress and egress for people, raw materials and products, industry will find it difficult to operate profitably," he commented.

"The second most important need is the availability of water. The creation of water impoundments would serve not only in the prevention of drought and floods, but would also furnish water areas for recreation of all kinds and a supply for agricultural and industrial use."

DiSalle wrote Kennedy that the third basic requirement is the extension of sewage disposal facilities in order that proper sanitation be available.

"I believe," the governor concluded, "since these three fundamentals are supplied, that the balance of the program tending towards raising the economic levels of these areas will move along at an accelerated pace."

Senate-Bound Teddy Kennedy Looks Like 'Political Natural'

BOSTON (AP) — Edward M. Kennedy, a sensational winner in the Massachusetts Democratic primary, looks like a political natural today, and his backers are predicting that he will drive through in November to a seat in the U.S. Senate.

It is the seat vacated in 1960 by John F. Kennedy when he was elected President.

Ted crushed his opponent for the Democratic nomination, Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr., in a blitz that dumbfounded his own supporters no less than McCormack's.

Shortly after the first returns his headquarters notified President Kennedy at Newport, R. I. "He said he was very pleased," said one of Ted's chief lieutenants.

The younger Kennedy, who is 30 and making his maiden run for elective office, took it all with glacial calm.

By about 10 p.m., some three hours after the polls closed, he was on his way from his Boston apartment to McCormack's headquarters, and then to a frantic, roaring victory celebration at the Touraine Hotel.

As he was hoisted onto the stage in the converted ballroom, he looked like a man who had known all along that it would be like this.

His pretty blonde wife, Joan, stood beside him, fighting a losing battle against tears. She swallowed hard and her voice broke when she tried to speak into the microphones. "I'm so grateful," she choked. "I don't know what else to say."

His juggernaut victory appears to be the result of four main factors—the Kennedy name in Massachusetts, Ted's natural talent for politics, a precision-engineered organization, and a debate that backfired on his opponent.

Weeks before the election, a Boston politician told this correspondent: "He's got more political savvy already than his brother had in his first campaign."
